After Driver Leaves Cab

4 Cars Damaged By Runaway Rig

Four parked vehicles were damaged late this morning on lower Broadway when struck by this drifting tractor-trailer, whose cab is pictured at the right, while the Newell operator was seeking help for a broken driveshaft.

Patrolman Orin C. Smith, who investigated, is signaling for a wrecker to proceed to remove three of the damaged autos.

Bob Smith of 430 Grant St., Newell, said he had just turned off E. 3rd St. onto Broadway when the driveshaft on the rig owned by John Radella of Midland fell to the ground.

Smith said he halted the rig loaded with coal and had gone to a nearby service station to telephone for aid and returned to find the rig had drifted down the grade, sideswiping a parked car and striking the rear of a Salvation Army station wagon.

The impact shoved the station wagon into the rear of a two-door car owned by Tom Taylor of Yeager Dr., Wellsville. The crash pushed the auto into the rear of a station wagon owned by Ernest Lowe of Wedgewood Ave., shoving it onto the sidewalk.

The owner of the car which was sideswiped was not immediately identified.

Robert McHenry of Oakland Ave., who was driving the Salvation Army station wagon, said he had just brought a woman to the Rescue Mission and was sitting in the auto with the woman's young daughter.

"I saw it coming but there was nothing I could do," he said. McHenry said he threw his arm around the youngster to protect her from injury.

Traffic was diverted over Walnut St. until the wreckage could be cleared.

A collision at 1:43 a.m. today at Pennsylvania and Virginia Aves. involved an auto owned by John A. Varavette, 23, of 57 4th St., Midland, and a parked car of James Carter, 1047 Pennsylvania Ave.

Varavette told police he pulled over to the curb and dozed off. "The next thing I knew the car had drifted into the rear of the parked auto," he told police.

Senate May Learn Asia Aid Extent

Rusk Set To Report To Committee On Humphrey's Pledge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk may tell senators today whether Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's pledge of "all necessary assistance" to Southeast Asia countries involves fighting for them.

That is the bedrock issue behind a Senate Foreign Relations Committee's request for Rusk's reaction to a proposed amendment by Chairman J.W. Fulbright to a pending $415-million foreign aid authorization bill.

Fulbright has offered a rider saying that approval of the measure or the furnishing of economic and military assistance to any country cannot be construed as a commitment to defend those nations with American forces.

The Arkansas Democrat contends that the United States' involvement in the Viet Nam conflict had its beginnings with the furnishing of economic aid.

He warned Sunday that if the Viet Nam war becomes "open-ended" there is real danger of war with China and announced his committee will begin Tuesday a series of hearings "to increase our understanding of China."

At point in the committee's request to Rusk is a communique issued at Bangkok during the course of the vice presi-

Abrams Won't Run

Chester Mayor's Job To Be Asked By Clutter, Ward

Burton G. Ward, 47, of 851 Phoenix Ave., a Republican, and Alvin B. Clutter, 43, of 544 River Dr., a Democrat, will run against each other in Chester's general election June 7 to succeed Mayor Harry Abrams, a Republican, who will not seek a new term.

The two parties' candidates were left unopposed for nomination in the primaries April 5 when the filing deadline passed Saturday midnight.

Three other incumbents did not file for new terms. They are Clerk-Treasurer Roy Cashdollar, a Republican, and Councilmen Donald Hissam and Walter McSwegin.

Hissam is a Republican, serving in the Third Ward, and McSwegin, also a Republican, serves in the Fourth Ward.

WARD FILED as one of the last-minute candidates Saturday. He formerly served as mayor in 1958-'60. Clutter entered the mayor's race on Friday.

The only candidate for clerk-treasurer is Donald Hood of 401 Indiana Ave., a Republican. He formerly served in Council and sought the mayor's office.

Associated with the Ohio Valley Gas Co. in East Liverpool, Ward is married and the father of three. He is a member of the First Christian Church at Chester, East Liverpool Masonic orders, the Weirton Knights Templar, Osiris Temple and Shrine, the East Liverpool Toastmasters Club and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Republicans have a three-way race for the nomination for the Second Ward Council seat and a two-way race in the Fifth Ward. Democrats have a two-man race for the nomination in the Third Ward. The other candidates are unopposed. New terms will begin July 1.

FILING for his sixth consecutive term was veteran Councilman Charles Kology, 53, of 111

Indiana Ave., unopposed for the Democratic nomination in the First Ward.

Kology is a time clerk at the Midland works of the Crucible Steel Co., where he is vice-president of the Office Clerical Local Union. Married with two daughters, he is a member of the Sacred Heart Church.

Also filing Saturday were Cyril Govey, 62, of 206 Church St., as a Republican candidate in the Second Ward; Robert Kincaid, 31, of 103 Railroad St., a newcomer to political activity, who will run unopposed as a Democratic candidate in the Fourth Ward, and Albert A. Cronin, 33, of Lycia Ave., Democratic candidate in the Fifth Ward.

Govey previously served as a Councilman in 1960-62. He is a life-long resident of Hancock County and a self-employed coal dealer. He is married with two sons and a daughter, and is a member of the Church of the Nazarene.

KINCAID, a volunteer fireman, drives a tractor-trailer for the Great Lakes Terminal Transport Corp. He is married and has two sons. Originally from Pittsburgh, where he attended schools, he has been a resident of the Chester area for 12 years.

Cronin, who heads the Chester Home Improvement Co., was a candidate for Council in the election two years ago. He is married and has four sons and a daughter. A Sunday school superintendent at the Chester Free Methodist Church, he attended Chester schools and the Ohio Valley Business College.

Other incumbent candidates for Council are Richard Johnson, 28, of Charles St., Republican, Second Ward, and Percy Willison, Republican, now completing his 12th term as Fifth Ward councilman.

Previously filing for nomination were J. Floyd Peddycock

Troops Mop Up As 3-Day Battle Ends

Joint Assault Kills 1,000 Communists, U.S. Toll Also High

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Marines brought their first year in Viet Nam to a thunderous finish today by joining with crack South Vietnamese troops to shatter a 2,000-man North Vietnamese regiment.

Nearly 1,000 Communists were said to have fallen before the combined air-ground assault by 6,000 Leathernecks, government paratroopers and rangers in three days of blistering fighting, that the Marines called their roughest action—and best showing—of the war.

The fierce battle tapered off into a mop-up operation today, with the Marines and Vietnamese troops in pursuit of small bands of Red survivors. Prisoners said the regiment had been in South Viet Nam only a month since it filtered down from the North by the jungled Ho Chi Minh Trail, Allied spokesmen reported.

But the victory was costly for the Allies. Marine officers told correspondents at the battle scene along the central coast that the Marines took their heaviest losses of any single battle in Viet Nam, although over-all Marine casualties were described as light. The toll came in the initial assault on Friday.

Eleven helicopters were hit by the Communists and two knocked down. The withering Red fire also forced down a Ma-

Candy Plans No Marriage With Powers

Acquitted Pair Set To Resume Normal Patterns Of Living

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Blonde Candace Mossler set out today, as she put it, to mother a brood of adored children and to "pick up the pieces" of a $33-million business.

She was asked in the presence of her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, following their acquittal Sunday in the 1964 slaying of her multimillionaire husband: "Mrs. Mossler, will you and Mel Powers be married?"

In a little girl voice, normal for her but tinged it seemed with a trace of vexation, Mrs. Mossler with her children behind her, replied at a news conference:

"We don't have any intentions in that direction."

Union between aunt and nephew is generally forbidden by American law, although it would be possible outside the United States. Florida law prohibits marriage between blood aunt and nephew.

Less than three hours earlier, Mrs. Mossler and Powers had been acquitted by an all-male jury of the brutal slaying of her husband, Jacques Mossler, 69. He was gray, slender, and, in the words of the state, stood in the way of an incestuous love affair between his wife and her nephew. The defendants, if convicted, could have gone to the electric chair.

Behind Mrs. Mossler and Powers at the unusual news conference in a downtown Miami hotel were Mrs. Mossler's two blonde grown children by her first marriage, and the four attractive youngsters she and Jacques Mossler adopted during their marriage.

Rescuers Bring Aid

Storm's Toll Hits 16, Damage High

FARGO, N. D. (AP)—Road-plowing crews and rescue missions began bringing relief today to blizzard-battered parts of the Dakotas and Minnesota.

The toll of deaths stood at 16. Ranchers were counting up a heavy loss of livestock, especially in South Dakota.

Helicopters and airplanes, bulldozers and plows worked to relieve thousands stranded in what has been termed the Dakotas' worst such storm in decades.

Travelers who had taken refuge in stores, cafes, services stations, or homes continued their journeys.

Stories of human kindness and heroic effort came out of the chill, snow-swept land.

Like the North Dakota farm boy, Orin Auck, of rural Sterling, who scanned the whitened countryside and got worried when he didn't see smoke coming out of a neighbor's chimney.

The 12-year-old boy put on his coat and overshoes and trudged through deep snowdrifts to the farm of Lowell Brown, who lived alone. There, he found the 65-year-old farmer dead, his body draped over a windmill brace in the yard — a victim of the blizzard which lashed the Dakotas three days last week.

Vignettes like this were commonplace as rural and city folk alike fought for survival against the storm.

Six of the storm deaths occurred in South Dakota and five each in North Dakota and Minnesota.

There was a staggering loss in cattle and sheep — perhaps running in the millions of dollars.

One rancher, Frank Maciejewski Sr. of Timber Lake, S.D., estimated his at $100,000. "I had 400 to 500 cattle and the same number of sheep," he said. "The cattle bunched up next to a shed in a feedlot and smothered. The sheep got smothered, too, in those deep drifts."

A spokesman in Civil Defense headquarters at Pierre, S.D., said the livestock losses were staggering. North Dakota ranchers weren't hit as hard.

In both states, work crews pushed around the clock to open up roads clogged with drifts up to 25 feet deep.

Conservative Leaders Win Austrian Vote

Klaus Eyes Move To Govern Alone, Dissolve Coalition

VIENNA (AP) — Chancellor Josef Klaus and other leaders of his Conservative People's party discussed today whether to man the government alone or continue the coalition with the Socialists which has governed Austria since the war.

In national elections Sunday, the Conservatives for the first time won a majority in Parliament. They picked up four more seats for a total of 85 in the 165-seat lower chamber.

The Socialists slipped from 75 to 74 seats and the right-wing Freedom party from 8 to 6.

The Democratic Progress party of former Socialist Interior Minister Franz Olah failed to make the grade. Olah lost his independent seat but made inroads on the Socialists in vital areas.

The Communists, who supported the Socialist candidates in 24 election districts, were defeated in their only try for a seat from downtown Vienna.

Although Klaus is no longer dependent on the Socialists for a majority, the tradition of coalition government has become so strong there is considerable pressure for its continuance.

Klaus gave no indication of his plans for the new government but described the election result as a "clear-cut rejection of the Socialist-Communist popular front."

The Socialist party chief, Vice Chancellor Bruno Pittermann, has indicated readiness to join Klaus in a new coalition. The two parties divided the Cabinet posts evenly in previous governments. If he is ready for a new coalition, Klaus is certain to insist on at least one more ministry for his party.

Police Probe Blast At Red Club Building

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police Inspector Robert McClenan says the explosion which shattered the national headquarters of the W. E. B. DuBois Clubs may have been a dynamite charge — as much as 40 pounds of it.

The blast Sunday ripped out the inside of the club's ramshackle two-story building, spraying glass and wood fragments on neighboring buildings and littering the street. There were no reported injuries.

"We have no definite leads or suspects," said McClenan. He said the blast may have been a dynamite charge placed under the front porch of the building, located in a run-down residential section several blocks from the city's Civic Center.

The explosion came less than 48 hours after the Justice Department moved to require the DuBois Clubs to register as a Communist front organization. On Saturday, in Brooklyn, N.Y., a street fight erupted when DuBois Club members called a news conference at a home, to the annoyance of neighbors.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Logan County became the first county to qualify for funds under the state's $5 million airport expansion program when final papers were signed today in Gov. James A. Rhodes' office.

The airport, to be located two miles north of Bellefontaine, will receive a $100,000 state grant. The total cost of the facility is expected to be $200,000.

President Ends Texas Stay 'Relaxed'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson returned to Washington today after enjoying what an aide described as "considerable relaxation and rest" at his Texas ranch.

Deputy press secretary Robert H. Fleming said the chief executive was weary when he flew to Texas Friday night. He said Mrs. Johnson had encouraged him to get a change of scenery.

"I think he's gotten considerable relaxation and rest down here," said Fleming.

Potter Plans To Check On Coin's Value

Lady Luck may have smiled on a Wellsville man, who today found a coin that could be worth several thousand dollars.

The rare coin, a copper penny with a 1943 date, turned up this morning in the pocket of James Daniels of 215 Highland Ave.

He got the coin in some change this morning while working at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. in Chester.

The Treasury Department says only aluminum alloy pennies were made in 1943. Daniels' penny carries a Denver mint mark.

In February, a 1943 copper penny made the news when it was stolen from a collector at Alton, Ill. It was valued at $4,000.

Police at Alton said at the time they were certain the thief who took the collection had no

Tougher Guidelines Set On Desegregation Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — New guidelines which "require actual desegregation" in the staffs of public schools which have had dual school systems were announced by the government today.

The new guidelines also, in the words of Harold Howe II, U.S. commissioner of education, "spell out that the intent of freedom of choice plans is to break down a dual system of schools and establish a single system of schools for all students in a community without regard to race, color, or national origins."

Another new requirement is that school authorities make progress in closing of small, inadequate schools established for Negro students or other minority groups.

Simplified procedures require periodic reports from school districts to measure progress in carrying out desegregation plans.

"It is the responsibility of the school system," Howe said in a statement, "to insure that any freedom of choice plan adopted by a district accomplishes the breakdown of any dual school system."

Simultaneously, Surgeon General William H. Stewart of the Public Health Service announced specific steps to assure compliance in the health and medical fields with the anti-discrimination provision of Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The guidelines are expected to speed up school desegregation in the South by restricting the freedom of choice procedures under which school districts could base desegregation plans on geographic attendance areas or a combination of geographic areas and freedom of choice.

Trustees In Franklin Get Dowdell's Report

SUMMITVILLE — Paul Dowdell, president, reported a fence has been erected around the township dump on the Edwin Jarrett property during a meeting of the Franklin Township trustees Saturday afternoon. The fence was put up to keep papers from blowing onto adjoining properties.

A drainage basin at the corner of Main and North Sts. in Millport has been repaired. It was damaged by a snow plow during bad weather.

The county work crew has completed repairs to a bridge on the Smith Rd. Constable Forrest Young's report for January and February showed 740 miles patrolled, two accidents investigated, two warnings issued and 34 miscellaneous messages handled.

Bills totaling $117 were ordered paid. Dowdell will attend the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Health Advisory Council tonight at 8 at the Courthouse in Lisbon. The next meeting will be March 19 at 2 p. m.

Ohio Lists 16 Road Deaths

By The Associated Press

The Ohio Turnpike's estimable safety record was smashed with the car-truck rear-end crash that killed five Michigan young men Saturday but the state's weekend total of traffic deaths was about "average."

At least 16 were killed in the Friday night through Sunday period, four of the victims claimed in double-fatality collisions Sunday night near Oxford and Akron.

Two Miami University students among 10 occupants of two autos that collided head-on and an Akron area couple whose auto skidded on ice into the path of a tractor-trailer perished.

The Sunday deaths: James E. Hardgrove, 22, a Miami senior from Willoughby, and Rebecca Herr, 20, a junior from Fairborn, two of six students in a car that collided head-on with another auto on Ohio 73 just east of Oxford.

Leo A. Pfeil, 63, and his wife, Mary, 56, Mogadore, when their car skidded into the path of a tractor-trailer on U.S. 224 three miles east of Akron.

Richard Horvath, 34, Willowick, in a two-car crash at a Willowick intersection.

Mrs. Beulah Merk, 42, Hinkley, whose car skidded on a icy Parma road and hit a utility pole.

Saturday night, Mrs. Elsie Heberlein, 56, Westlake, died of injuries suffered earlier Saturday when the car driven by her husband, George, collided with another auto near Cleveland.

2 Members Honored By Wellsville Firemen

Two firemen were honored for long service during a meeting of the Wellsville volunteer firemen Sunday night at the station.

Honored were John Roberts, with 22½ years, and Chuck Leatherberry, with 20 years. Roberts is a trustee and Leatherberry is assistant chief.

Cake and ice cream were served. The firemen voted to donate $100 to the Citizens Scholarship Foundation. Dave Lanam is president.

Services Slated For Top Official Of Ohio Chamber

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Chamber of Commerce spread the word last year it was looking for someone to break in as executive vice president under the tutelage of the longtime occupant of that post—Herschel C. Atkinson Sr.

Atkinson, 63, was giving serious thought to retirement from the fulltime duties that made him one of Ohio's best known business world figures.

But he was still the chamber's chief executive and man on the go—"Mr. Ohio Chamber of Commerce"—until stricken with a heart attack Sunday in his suburban Upper Arlington home.

Suspended Sentence Given Boy In Car Case

A 16-year-old Newell boy was given a 60-day suspended jail sentence on a charge of joyriding at a hearing conducted Saturday morning in the office of Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

Previously reported mistakenly as being a Chester youth, he then was placed on a year's probation by John Grossi, juvenile officer.

The juvenile had been picked up by Hancock County sheriff's deputies and Chester police as he left Terrace Lanes on Route 30 Thursday night.

A woman had heard a radio report that an auto belonging to Robert Laughlin of 409 Phyllis Ave., Chester, had been stolen from the rear of Dickey's Cleaners on Carolina Ave.

Plea Changed In Car Deaths

LISBON — Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard today ordered an investigation after a Wellsville man changed his plea from not guilty to guilty on two counts of first degree manslaughter in connection with a fatal auto crash.

The defendant is Andrew Eugene Turick, 27, of 1793 Chester Ave., charged in connection with a two-car head-on collision last Oct. 3 on 10th St. Ext. west of Wellsville.

Victims of the crash were Edwin Eugene Bettis, 24, driver of the car, and his wife, Janice, who was a passenger.

Judge Buzzard granted a motion to strike the part of the indictment which alleged that Turick was driving while under the influence of alcohol. Turick then changed his plea. He was scheduled to go on trial this morning.

Turick was placed under a $1,000 bond after Judge Raymond S. Buzzard revoked an order freeing him on his own recognizance.

The defendant, a trucker, was absent from arraignment when a truck he was operating broke down en route to Texas.

Route 68 Mishap Hurts Local Man

An East Liverpool man suffered minor injuries in a one-car accident Sunday night at 10:15 just east of the Beaver Creek Bridge on Route 68.

The auto driven by Willie J. Jones of 1216 Erie St. skidded on the icy road, ran over an embankment and was demolished. He was treated at City Hospital for contusions of the left temple and abrasions of the left knee.

Another accident reported by Ohioville Police Officer Mike Haydin occurred on Smiths Ferry Hill at 8 p.m. Sunday when Harry J. McGee of Smiths Ferry lost control of his car on the icy road and hit an oncoming vehicle operated by William Jefferson of East Liverpool. No injuries were reported.

Man Fined And Jailed In Wellsville Incident

A Wellsville man was fined for disorderly conduct and jailed for escaping custody of an officer at a hearing Saturday before Mayor William Daugherty.

Robert Anderson of 2202 Clark Ave. was fined $15 and costs for disorderly conduct and sentenced to five days in jail for fleeing an officer as he was being taken to jail.

Police said Anderson and Terry Van Dyke, also of Wellsville, were picked up at 1:30 a. m. Saturday on charges of disorderly conduct by fighting.

Anderson ran from the officer as he was being jailed. He was picked up a short time later. Van Dyke was ordered to pay costs of the case when he appeared for a hearing Saturday morning.

More Evidence Needed

The preliminary report of Dr. Raymond Young on a survey of Columbiana County's higher education needs has not shed much enlightenment yet upon a rather confused picture of what exists, what might be and what can be.

The University of Michigan educator, long-time advocate of the community college system, reported last Thursday on his survey made last year of county high school students and the county's business and industrial employment training needs.

Unfortunately, his study was conducted prior to the establishment of the Kent State Academic Center here, and consequently does not reflect the important role the branch is playing in serving the college level students in southern Columbiana County.

Further, Dr. Young had considerable amount of information at his command concerning what community colleges have done and will do, but seemed vague about what Kent's new Associate Degree program — a two-year technological training curriculum — will do to meet local wants.

The Regional Planning Commission's committee on higher education will welcome Dr. Young's final report and the opportunity to question him further about what it means in relation to this county.

YET, THE REPORT apparently will have little bearing on what should be undertaken with respect to higher education in the county.

Backers of the proposed community college have been active for some time, appointing a board of trustees, creating a college district, hiring a president — elect, selecting one site, considering another, launching a public relations program, obtaining temporary classroom quarters — all prior to any report on education needs or much indication of public support from the county.

The availability of $1.7 million in state funds for some institution of higher learning for Columbiana County, the recommendation of the Ohio Master Plan for Higher Education and the belief there should be a broader county program seemed to be the prime motivations for the expeditious formation of the community college structure.

The master plan's reference to this county stated it was one of 11 where priority should be given to development of permanent facilities for community colleges, technical institutes or university branches.

The plan stated further, "The determination of whether two-year programs should be operated through community colleges, technical institutes or university branches should be made in consultation with various interested groups in accordance with local needs."

THE REVIEW is not opposed to community colleges per se.

But, there is every indication the development of the college program so far has been without due consideration of the total education needs, without relationship to all county needs, without full awareness of the financial responsibility in maintaining such a program were it to go into effect.

A county levy eventually would be required for operating the proposed community college.

We feel the voters will support a new college program only if it is generally acceptable as benefiting the entire county.

Regardless of whether it is a university branch, community college or tech school, voter support is doubtful if there is any hint of special interest, duplication, waste or political opportunism.

And unless utterly convinced, no taxpayer in East Liverpool or any other school district facing critical public school financing problems will cast a ballot for additional money for non-district education, no matter how wonderful the idea might look or sound.

The final decision rests with the Ohio Board of Regents at Columbus.

In view of the Kent branches here and at Salem and in view of existing trade and technological programs an overwhelming case would have to be made before a decision could be returned in favor of a community college. It hasn't been made yet, in our opinion.

1,000 Times As Much

Sobering recollections of a problem that baffled the United States in its war against Japan are stirred by official estimates that it takes 1,000 times as much to keep the United States going in South Viet Nam as it takes to supply the Viet Cong.

Secretary of Defense McNamara declares the Viet Cong has been getting along on not more than an average of 24 tons of supplies a day, though it takes 24,000 tons to keep the United States in the war.

The same gross disproportion stumped the United States in its war with Japan, whose fighting men were sent into combat with nothing more cumbersome than a sack of dried rice and enough ammunition to keep them combative.

Secretary McNamara, answering theorists who claim the war would be over in a hurry if the United States did thus and so to cut off

Viet Cong supplies, says the enemy's needs could be supplied by men on bicycles. A Viet Cong fighting man needs so little to keep him combative that nothing the United States could do to close off ports would have significant effect.

This problem plagued the United States throughout the war with Japan. Japanese fighting men were infinitely resourceful in living off the land and making ends meet under circumstances that would have meant disaster to U.S. troops.

When it is further considered that everything needed by the United States in Viet Nam must be sent almost halfway around the earth at enormous expense, the enormity of the supply task becomes obvious. As a U.S. military expert once said about Viet Nam, before the United States became involved there, it is the last place on earth anyone should choose to fight a war, least of all a Western power.

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

Meanwhile back at the Kremlin, Communist First Secretary Leonid L. (Leo) Brezhnev and Premier Aleksei N. (Al) Kosygin were shooting the breeze.

Al, who has been in the forefront in Russian foreign affairs, was briefing Leo on what was going on in the United States, Viet Nam, China and other parts of the world.

They had been discussing the recently televised hearings of the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the Viet Nam war.

Leo hadn't quite got the whole thing straight in his mind and asked Al, "We and our comrade Ho can be encouraged by the violent split in American opinion can't we?"

Al caught him up short with, "That isn't quite what I said, Leo. I said if such a public display of differences occurred in our beloved Motherland, or any of our great sister People's Republics, then America would take it as an encouraging sign."

"But in the inscrutable West things are not like they are in the USSR."

"How are things so different there?" Leo wanted to know.

"They have this capitalistic decadent weakness of what they call free speech," said Premier Al. "But there are spokesmen and groups strategically placed in the United States who are teaching the Americans that free speech is really treason and they hope to silence all dissent there soon. Once they prove to Americans that disagreement is treasonous we will have taken a giant stride toward making America one of our glorious sister People's Republics.

By Martin Miller

"Their silly customs of free speech, free elections, free enterprise and military defense are all that have kept us from annexing America before this."

Leo, the party's First Secretary and supposedly the most powerful man in Russia, stroked his chin and mused, "Hm-m. That reminds me, in our next Five Year Plan maybe we should give the farmers more land of their own to boost food production and expand the incentive system in industry to boost production."

Al quickly responded, "We couldn't do that. China is giving us a bad enough time as it is."

"That brings up another thing I have wanted to ask you," said Leo. "What are we going to do about China?"

Without hesitating, Al said, "We'll just have to keep on doing what we have been doing because the mysterious East is as inscrutable as the inscrutable West."

Leo was disgusted and said, "Everywhere we turn in the world we have inscrutabilities."

Al injected a hopeful note, "Certain people in America say we are gaining there. They say the U.S. government now is half Communist."

"That is the best news I have had," smiled Leo. "We should assist those people all we can to keep up the good work. Let us trust that the American government does not silence them as traitors. We need propagandists like that."

Faithfully yours,

Money And Happiness

If the British reorganize their currency in 1971, their latest promise, I won't understand the new coins either. They will make sure of that by dividing the pound into 100 parts, instead of ditching it and starting with something close to the value of a dollar.

I don't really understand the dollar adequately, and this underlies my confusion about all currencies. A brief encounter with old francs and new francs in France muddled me so badly I could do nothing but hold out a handful of money to cab drivers and invite them to take their fill—as I'm sure they did.

In England, I had a better arrangement. I turned my pockets inside out and gave everything to our No. 1 son and his wife, who had the hang of hennies, guineas, crowns, pounds, shillings and pence. They paid for everything.

Here in the Land of the Brave, money is so obscure to me I never have been able to claim any sense of value about it. I recall the amazement of an electric power company official when I told him I bought the best-paid employs of his company should be fellows who went out in blizzards to repair power lines because they were indispensable. He said it wasn't that way.

I never have understood why photogenic floosies who collect husbands should be paid off better than equally good looking girls who master operational know-how of big corporations, or keep the wheels of government on the track.

I can understand the difference between a roll of $10 bills and a roll of $5 bills, but I admit that I am just as euphoric with a wad of $1's as I'd be with a wad of $100's, because it is the feel of the roll that sends me into raptures. Nice and fat.

Nothing makes me more self-satisfied than a fistful of dimes, because they are negotiable for life's comforts—phone calls, candy bars, pay toilets, snacks, parking meters, vending machines.

I should be collecting quarters and halves because they are worth more. That's not the way my mind works. I think only about the convenience of money, not its over-all value. What good would a $500 bill be in a snack bar?

It Was Bound To Happen!

Egypt Makes The Canal Work

CAIRO

Ten years ago they said he couldn't run it. But early this year Egyptian President Nasser launched a new expansion program for the Suez Canal, a waterway that earned $19.2 million for Egypt last year.

When the curtain rang down on 1965, the Suez Canal Authorities books showed a 20 per cent increase in revenues over the previous year on a meager 1 per cent increase in the volume of ships.

The Egyptian government's campaign to improve and widen the canal since President Nasser seized it from Britain on a steamy July day in 1956 has paid off. The canal has become one of the most abundant sources of badly needed convertible currency.

Now the Egyptian government is using a sizable amount of money and talent to increase the canal's efficiency and capacity still further. In a second five-year plan the government is expanding its facilities to accommodate the bigger ships, which pay higher tolls.

ON THE NORTH END of the canal, a massive job is under way to remove six small islands that cause traffic bottlenecks in the harbor of Port Said. About half of the work of dredging 9 million cubic feet of sand and rock from the harbor area is completed. The dredge-up material will be used for creating a broad docking area on the east side of the northern mouth of the canal.

To the south at Ismailia, the half-way point on the canal, Egypt plans to build a modern port area for loading and unloading. This area is near Cairo, the destination of most incoming goods.

From this budding port, which is nearer to the capital than either Port Said or Alexandria, products can be transported by boat along the Ismailia fresh water canal, by rail on a double-track railroad or by truck over a network of well-paved roads.

The new port will have deep quays, silos and large cranes for loading and unloading. A bypass is in the making for two-way traffic, and a recreation area is planned for the separating islet.

THERE'S LITTLE DOUBT that the plan will be carried through, for this is the country's showcase of homegrown efficiency and enterprise.

During the last 10 years, Egypt has spent about $92.8 million to improve the canal proper. This was about three times the amount spent by the previous company on improvements between the canal's inauguration in 1869 and 1956.

The amount spent excludes cost of the 22-month rebuilding after the war in 1956.

The major thrust has been the massive project to deepen the canal to allow passage of larger ships. Since February, 1964, when the first ship drawing 38 feet (previously the maximum was 35 feet, navigated the canal, revenues have soared. This year's revenues topped a 14 per cent increase in 1964. It seems likely that the gross for 1966 will almost triple that of 1955, the last year of British operation.

The government also wants to expand its operation into related fields. A recently appointed committee is implementing plans to make Port Said a free trade area on the scale of Aden and Hong Kong. The project holds promise, since more foreign ships—there were 20,289 in 1965—pass through its waters than through any other port in the world. A dozen countries have already applied for concessions.

AT THE END OF 1965, President Nasser launched the second phase of the Port Said shipyard, which this year is geared to construct four 12,000-ton ships in 12 months. Last year the yard built two 6,000-ton ships.

The yard serves also as an important repair station for foreign ships. The floating dock, put into service five years ago, can now repair ships of up to 50,000 tons.

There are possible pitfalls ahead. If there is a significant find of petroleum in the North Sea, where a number of countries are now probing, it would drastically reduce the need of Great Britain (the canal's largest customer) for Middle East oil.

Petroleum and its derivatives form about 85 per cent of the canal's northbound traffic, and Britain, which imports half the oil it consumes, contributes about one-fifth of the traffic. It's possible other countries might look north instead of east for their petroleum products.

For the present, however, the steady increase in the number and size of ships using the canal promises to pour a steadily rising amount of hard or transferrable currency into the Egyptian economy.

The Commonwealth

To people who aren't British, the Commonwealth often seems to be what Sir Winston Churchill called Russia — "a riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma."

It includes people of every racial stock. Nations range from parliamentary democracies to military dictatorships. Economic systems run the gamut from laissez-faire capitalism to socialism.

The Commonwealth has about 750 million people, the National Geographic Society says. Spear-throwing hunters enjoy its benefits along with Cambridge-bred scientists.

"Commonwealth" is no longer just an abbreviation for "British Commonwealth of Nations." The older phrase — which replaced the still older "British Empire" — has been quietly dropped. Recent communiques speak simply of "the Commonwealth."

The Commonwealth is an association of nations and dependencies that once belonged to the British Empire. They share the English language and many traditions, but differ sharply in most respects.

Members include Australia, Canada, Ceylon, Cyprus, The Gambia, Ghana, India, Jamaica, Kenya, Malawi, Malaysia, Malta, New Zealand, Nigeria, Pakistan, Sierra Leone, Singapore, Tanzania, Trinidad and Tobago, Uganda, the United Kingdom, and Zambia, plus British colonies, protectorates and territories under trusteeship.

A Vital Lesson

By Raymond Moley

Public's Confidence Aided In 1930's

This is written after a seminar on the stirring events of the 1930s, given on the campus of Claremont Men's College. I had the pleasure of participating in that meeting, which was one of a series of annual reconsiderations of the American political tradition.

As another survivor of the first Roosevelt administration, my friend and associate, Rexford G. Tugwell, was with me. Presiding at the evening meeting in which Tugwell and I offered reminiscences was Nick Williams, editor of the Los Angeles Times.

At several roundtables, the speakers were for the most part professors in various institutions who presented their ideas about the significance of what happened in the early—or first—New Deal era.

THE IMPRESSION I have carried away from this event has, I believe, a significance for anyone who reads any history of the past. For Tugwell and I were able to listen to the philosophical and historical conclusions about events in 1933 in which we had been rather intimate participants and witnesses.

We—or I at any rate—felt like ghosts returned to a coroner's inquest over an affair in which we had been present.

Historians tend toward broad generalizations about periods which are more or less distant from their present perspective. Centuries come to be bracketed: The Age of Pericles, the Roman Republic, the Decline and Fall of Rome, the Middle Ages, the Renaissance, the Age of Enlightenment.

In American history shorter eras are marked: The Virginia Dynasty, the Age of Jackson, the Progressive Movement.

These general descriptions are readily identified by a few events, but too often miss the vast differences within any period and also the variety of facts which are incapable of such easy bracketing.

It's so, even as we come to modern times in America.

ONE DANGER in such historical generalizations is that they lose the connections which tie the whole past together in one succession of events and conditions.

In Pollock and Maitland's great "History of English Law," the first sentence is: "Such is the unity of all history that anyone who endeavors to tell a piece of it must feel that his first sentence tears a seamless web."

This was especially true of the early New Deal. It was not so new at all. Its reforms had a flavor of many things that had preceded it. It had a bit of populism, plenty of the progressivism of 20 years before, some of TR's New Nationalism, some of Wilson's New Freedom and a good deal of what happened under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover were presidents.

The New Deal was not one piece. It was a composite of many ideas. It had something new, something borrowed and plenty of improvisations and compromises. There were a lot of new people in it. But they came bringing with them much of the past.

WHAT SO OFTEN IS MISSED by historians who write of a past in which they did not participate is that the people who did participate were concerned with the day-to-day tasks of government, with making quick decisions, often without the time to consider all alternatives and never with the option of doing more than one thing at a time.

Participants can't take much time to think. The last thing they can do is to fit their actions into the framework of a philosophy. It remains for those who have hindsight much later to put the label of a philosophy on what was done.

So, as I reflect upon those exciting months of 1933, I realize that we were dealing with two pressing necessities: One, to keep the machinery of government in motion, to help individuals and businesses to stay alive, and at the same time to revive the confidence of the people on their capacity to recover from the depths of the depression.

The people of the nation didn't understand what we were doing. But they were convinced that a lot of things were being done. And that alone gave them the spirit to carry on.

It was the confidence of the public rather than any specific reforms that led to the recovery that followed.

That is a lesson that historians must learn.

Police Charge 2 In 'Cycle Mishap

A 14-year-old Beechwood youth and a neighbor were cited to juvenile authorities Sunday afternoon after the youth lost control of a motorcycle and ended up in a Center St. yard, damaging some shrubbery and the siding of a home.

Charles Quinn of 247 Center St. was cited for driving without an operator's permit, while the motorcycle owner, Frank Kraft of 233 Center St. was accused of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his vehicle and failing to display license plates on the motorcycle, officers said.

Police said the motorcycle damaged some hedges and flowers, knocked down a small fence and scraped the side of the home of Anthony Klubert of 213 Center St.

Mrs. Klubert told Patrolman L. E. Richard she heard the crash and saw the youth and the motorcycle in the yard.

Kraft told police he didn't know what the boy was doing on his motorcycle.

A GROCERY truck driver was cited for improper backing after a minor mishap Saturday morning on Webber Way, about 100 feet east of Jefferson St., police said.

The collision involved a backing panel truck owned by Seaford Market of 301 W. 4th St. and operated by Raymond E.

Sixty-eight civil cases were filed in the court, while the total cash received in the Title Department in February was $4,476.80, with the county getting $3,359.15 and the state $1,117.65.

Man, 22, Hurt In Auto Crash

Terry Lee Miller, 22, of Smiths Ferry was treated at City Hospital shortly before 6 a. m. Sunday for injuries received after he lost control of his auto near the intersection of Routes 2 and 30 east of Chester.

Miller suffered abrasions of the forehead, right forearm, and left thigh, and lacerations of the tongue, according to hospital authorities.

A passenger, Steve Williams, 19, also of Smiths Ferry, was examined and is to return for X-rays.

Hancock deputies said Miller apparently fell asleep, his 1959 westbound car coming to rest in a creek bed adjacent to the roadway.

The three main types of tea are green, black and oolong. Green is not fermented; black is fermented, and oolong half fermented.

Langdon told police he looked to the rear and saw an auto halted in line of traffic but didn't observe the halted taxi. When he backed from a private lot, he struck the fender of the cab, he told police.

Langdon pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning and drew a fine of $10 and costs.

No one was cited after a mishap Saturday night in which a Jefferson County motorist was blamed for driving without headlights.

The mishap at Pennsylvania Ave. and Maple St. involved a car operated by Joseph A. D'Itri, 35, of 652 Penn. Ave., Midland, and Earl E. Corder, 21, of Bergholz.

D'Itri said he pulled out of Maple St. and hit the left side of Corder's 1965 auto, but said Corder was driving without headlights turned on.

Police said a witness, Robert Henthorn of 734 Sophia St., agreed that Corder's lights weren't turned on.

A minor crash Saturday night on Sherwood Ave. involved a car operated by Sandra Lee McCord, 18, of 2129 Sherwood Ave. and a parked station wagon owned by the James G. Pardee Co. of Youngstown.

The young women told officers she was pulling away from a parking space and misjudged the distance, hitting the parked vehicle.

amount of hard work which she devoted to Dollars for Scholars," he said.

When all the returns are in, it is expected that the $2,000 mark will be surpassed, since a substantial amount of the area's home-owners were out when the workers called. An attempt will be made to reach these persons, but Vodrey said that those persons missed who wish to contribute may mail their contributions to Post Office Box 458, East Liverpool.

Records also were broken in the two other districts which reported to campaign headquarters on Sunday, with Beaver Local, led by the trustees, Mrs. Art Cloran and Mrs. Betty Patterson, reporting contributions of $440.34. This easily surpassed last year's record total of $353 and Mrs. Patterson pointed out that several of the districts were unable to report yesterday evening, due to hazardous road conditions. She is hopeful $500 may be reached in the house-to-house phase of the drive.

Norm Six and Anne Jester, co-chairmen for the Newell division of Oak Glen, raised $201.92, again a new record compared to last year's total of approximately $100 raised door-to-door.

In Chester, Mrs. Eugene Seeley, trustee and chairman, reported contributions of $99.60, nearly three times the $38.63 collected in 1965. Furthermore, she has four outlying districts yet to report, so Chester should easily exceed the $100 level, she said.

Western Beaver, Southside,

Wellsville, and Midland have not yet reported in, largely because of the poor road conditions throughout the Tri-State District Sunday night. Vodrey expressed confidence over their possibilities, however, in view of the unprecedented returns from Oak Glen, Beaver Local and East Liverpool.

The door-to-door phase of the drive now will be followed by solicitation of businesses, industry, and organizations in the seven school districts, with completion of the drive expected by March 26.

Vodrey said it is his feeling that the record totals reached this year reflect not only the amount of hard work put in by the chairmen and their solicitors, but also the increasing public awareness of the goals and methods of Dollars for Scholars. He praised the support given the campaign by the Review and WOHL, as well as the other news media in the area.

rine phantom jet. The two crewmen ejected safely offshore.

The intelligence information that enabled the Allied force to trap the Red regiment was provided by two North Vietnamese soldiers captured by government troops at the beginning of the month. They disclosed that the North Vietnamese regiment's mission was to cut Route 1, the strategic coastal highway, by mining it and blowing up a bridge.

The Marines launched Operation Utah with their Vietnamese allies Friday. Some troops dropped into the valley by helicopter, others pushed in by road. Artillery and air strikes softened up the enemy.

At times the firing came so close Allied units had to check with each other before every new barrage.

The Marines brought the weekend fighting in a coastal valley 335 miles northeast of Saigon to a rousing climax Sunday night by storming the North Vietnamese 21st Regiment's command post, capturing 95 weapons and seizing a store of enemy records.

A total of 533 enemy bodies were counted, but Col. Bruce Jones of McLean, Va., adviser to the Vietnamese 2nd Regiment, said: "There is evidence we killed or wounded as many more." Only half the enemy force remained alive, he said.

Another participant in the battle as an adviser to a Vietnamese battalion was Army Capt. Peter Dawkins, the former West Point football All-American and Rhodes Scholar.

idea of its value and probably put it back in circulation.

At that time, collectors differed with Treasury Department officials, claiming they knew of at least three copper pennies dated that year. Two of them are in private collections on the East Coast, they said.

It could be that Daniels has the fourth. A former commander of VFW Post 5647, Daniels is a packer at the pottery.

When asked what he plans to do with the penny, Daniels said: "I don't know. I just got it."

He said he had been informed by friends that the coin could be very valuable.

Police Probe Stirs New Attention In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG (AP)—Capitol hill buzzed with activity today as congressional reapportionment, the state police probe and special sessions of the General Assembly kept state legislators on the go.

Detective Reported Ill, Unable To Testify

HARRISBURG (AP)—A state police detective who testified to using illegal wiretapping devices may have suffered a heart attack and will be unable to appear before a House investigating committee for some time, his attorney said today.

Atty. Martin Heller told the committee at the resumption of public hearings that his client, state police detective Angelo Carcaci of Philadelphia, was admitted last midnight to the Riddle Memorial Hospital in Delaware County on an emergency basis.

sumed public hearings after a two-week recess. Once again, the emphasis promised to be on wiretapping.

Meanwhile, Gov. Scranton leafed through a report he had requested from State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy on the wiretap allegations.

On the legislative front, the compromise congressional reapportionment bill was poised for final passage in the House.

House leaders from both sides of the aisle braced for amendment proposals to the Senate-passed measure that would re-map the state's 27 congressional districts.

The Democratic and Republican legislative leaders hoped to place an approved bill on Scranton's desk sometime today.

House Majority Leader Joshua Eilberg and Minority Leader Kenneth B. Lee expressed optimism over the weekend that the bill would pass.

"I think it will pass," Eilberg, a Democrat, said. "The thing that concerns me is that if amendments are adopted, there is the real danger of no congressional reapportionment at all. I do not want that onus on the Democratic Party."

Lee said in a separate interview, "The plan has some obvious inequities. These are narrow I feel, however, that there will be substantial support to pass it."

Each party planned a lengthy caucus on the bill in advance of their house session.

The measure passed the Senate Friday and the House advanced it into position for a final vote at a midnight session. At least seven House members were known to be contemplating amendments.

dent's recent nine-nation tour of Asia and the Pacific which said: "He (Humphrey) emphasized the determination of the United States to provide all necessary assistance to enable Thailand and the other countries of Southeast Asia threatened by Communist aggression to defend themselves and to achieve in peace their just economic and social aims."

Fulbright and some other committee members want to know if this means possible extension of the Viet Nam fighting to Thailand. They have been informed that the United States, which has a mammoth air base there, already has 20,000 or more troops in Thailand.

Rusk's reply may influence committee action on Fulbright's proposed rider, although the chairman already has said publicly he doubts the committee will approve it or a similar proposal made by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

McGovern has offered a rider that would make it clear passage of the aid bill involves no endorsement of Johnson's conduct of the Viet Nam war. But he said he will not press it in the Senate if the committee rejects it.

In his Red China policy statement, Fulbright said some U.S. experts believe Chinese leaders expect war with the United States within a year. He added that some Americans also expect such a conflict.

Fulbright said he scheduled the committee hearings on China because they might alter this "fatal expectancy" of war.

Before fresh political and military decisions are made on Southeast Asia, the chairman said, it is essential to try to understand the Chinese and their leaders.

In a top weekend development, it was revealed that presidential adviser Maxwell D. Taylor believes that U.S. mines should be used to seal the harbor of Haiphong in North Viet Nam.

Safety Study Urged

Aviation Experts Probe Japanese Air Tragedies

TOKYO (AP)—Aviation experts from four nations began intensive investigations today in the wake of three successive airline disasters in the Tokyo area that killed 321 persons.

Japanese officials also launched urgent studies of aviation safety in Japan and renewed calls for a new airport.

Two crashes Saturday and Sunday killed 98 Americans, including 75 in a tour group aboard a British Overseas Airways Corp. Boeing 707 bound for Hong Kong.

Heavy rains on the lower slopes of Mt. Fuji, site of the BOAC crash Saturday, killed all 124 aboard, hampered studies being made of the twisted wreckage.

Photographs of the BOAC jet which spun out of a clear sky showed the plane began disintegrating while falling. Smoke trailed from the full length of both wings.

Pieces of the Canadian Pacific Airlines Douglas DC8 jet that crashed Friday in a fog at the Tokyo airport were being picked over by more experts. That crash killed 64 of the 72 persons aboard.

On Feb. 4 a Boeing 727 jet operated by All Nippon Airways crashed in Tokyo harbor and killed all 133 persons aboard. It was the worst crash involving a single plane.

Among the investigators arriving from the United States, Britain and Canada was John G. Adams, a member of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board. He said he would study all three crashes, all of which involved American-made jets.

Identification of the BOAC victims continued in the small city of Gotemba, at the foot of Mt. Fuji. Workers said the task was extremely difficult because the bodies were badly mangled. Identification of the bodies in the Canadian Pacific crash also has not been completed. Most of them were badly burned.

Man Returns To Jail

Following New Arrest

It was back to the County Jail at Lisbon today for William Compa of Riverview St. after his second arrest in two days on intoxication charges.

Compa drew a fine of $100 and costs this morning from Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Compa had been fined $50 and costs Friday but the judge suspended the penalty when the defendant said he had obtained a job at Waterford Park. Released from jail Friday morning, he was arrested on the second charge Friday night on E. 6th St.

Meanwhile, Lloyd Fetty of Fairview St., Chester, was fined $10 and costs on an intoxication charge. He was cited by police early Sunday. Fetty was treated at City Hospital Sunday afternoon for possible back injuries which he told Lt. Kenneth Mooney he received in a fall from a bunk in the jail. However, the lieutenant said none of the other prisoners witnessed Fetty's fall.

More And Better Health Care Demanded

Medical World Faces 'Tidal Wave'

With new demands pressing on it from all directions, American medicine today faces a time of crisis. But from this period of testing, new patterns of better health care may emerge. This is the first of five articles appraising the nation's medical picture today and tomorrow.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The young, dark-haired doctor in Boston paused, searching for his words.

"It's a tidal wave," he said. "There's simply a great tidal wave of demand and human need for more and better health care, boiling up all across the land."

Standing on the traditional shoreline, to meet this wave, are some 280,000 physicians, about 600,000 nurses, and 97,000 dentists.

BEFORE the wave subsides, says a surgeon in Houston, it will strain, drown, or change many traditional ways of supplying the nation's medical manpower and meeting the health needs of its people.

In their place will rise some new structures in the house of medicine, new kinds of health assistants, new ways to keep people healthy, to extend life, to add to its quality.

This now is a time of crisis, of a serious shortage not only of doctors and nurses but also technologists and others possessing dozens of needed skills, according to many, though not all, leaders in various responsibilities of medical and health care.

The shortages "will get worse before they get better," authorities in many cities agree.

THE TIDAL wave springs from many sources:

1. Medicare, starting July 1, providing hospitalization under insurance for up to 18 million citizens of 65 or over.

Medicare is certain to increase demand for hospital beds, surgical, medical and nursing care. No one is sure how much.

2. Coming establishment of regional centers for heart disease, cancer and strokes, designed to spread the best, most modern knowledge and techniques more broadly through communities.

3. Spread of prepaid insurance plans for medical and hospital care, removing some of the financial hesitation to seek attention.

4. Growth of comprehensive community mental health centers, already provided for under federal and state laws.

5. Expansion of population — there are nearly 200 million Americans now. And now many people know more about medicine; they expect more and better care.

6. And — possibly most significant in total numbers — millions of neglected poor people are being introduced to the chance for better health care.

Deduct, on the home front, doctors drafted for military service to tend fighting men in Viet Nam. The last call, in February, was for 2,496 doctors.

More may be needed if the war widens, if more men fall ill of malaria or other diseases resistant to present drugs.

All this surge of demand is rising to test a system of medicine, American medicine, which in many respects is the best in the world. At its highest level, it is without peer. It has many strengths, superb quality.

But already it is not without its soft spots.

FOR YEARS, the United States has been importing doctors — one in six doctors licensed each year was graduated from some foreign medical school.

Doctors are not always available in emergencies.

They are in short supply or lacking in some small towns and rural communities. Most hospitals lack 10 to 25 per cent of the nurses for whom they have positions.

Doctors are not all of equal skill and knowledge, any more than persons in any profession. New knowledge, new techniques flowing rapidly from research impose "continuing education" or else shippage of a physician's medical art, even to the point of mediocrity.

Of what use, many ask, is new life-saving knowledge if it is not applied quickly, and well?

Millions of poor people do not receive good or timely care, despite free clinics, despite donations of time by dedicated doctors.

And there are inevitable strains because "the doctor" is, after all, a human being — like his patients.

PHYSICIANS can become overworked, harried, with a home life marred by missed dinner or theater engagements, by broken promises to their own children, because of emergencies. And they have legitimate complaints about some patients.

Every patient has some personal experience, and frequent gripe, about physicians or hospitals.

Perhaps there's no hope of resolving all such problems between patient and doctor or others giving health care to an individual.

But medicine is no exception to "the rapid turning of the wheels of change," writes Dr. Ward Darley of the Association of American Medical Colleges.

There is no dearth of ideas, suggestions and proposals to remedy problems and to improve medical and health care.

A great trouble, says Dr. John H. Knowles, administrator of Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, "is that everyone is feeling just part of the elephant. No one feels much commitment outside the area of his own interest."

And it is a big, odd and complicated elephant.

Scholar Fund Money Taken

A sneak thief stole a jar containing between $5 and $10 collected for the Dollars for Scholars Fund from behind the counter of their Little Diner at 1901 Harvey Ave., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Taylor told police Sunday.

The jar was taken between 5 p. m. Saturday and 1:45 p. m. yesterday. The empty jar was found lying on Myrtle Ave., the Taylors said.

John Evces, 505 Oakland Ave., reported to police yesterday morning that vandals shot a BB pellet through a 65-x-76-inch front window at his home sometime during the previous 24 hours.

The window was valued at approximately $40, he said. A vandal also was blamed for breaking the windshield of a 1954 auto with a beer bottle.

Otto M. Chandler of 318 Blakeley St. told police the auto was parked in his garage and the garage doors were open. The vandalism occurred between Friday noon and Saturday afternoon, he said.

Noted Musician Dies

Capable Enemy
Gen. Thai Gets Top Rating

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Vietnamese general believed leading Communist forces in South Viet Nam is rated as a first-class strategist, an able planner and a competent field commander.

This evaluation of Lt. Gen. Hoang Van Thai has been made for Washington officials after painstaking exploration of the Chinese-trained general's background.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that Thai, former assistant chief of the North Vietnamese Joint General Staff, infiltrated into South Viet Nam in early 1964 "and reportedly is the current commander of the Viet Cong armed forces."

McNamara also said a second North Vietnamese lieutenant general named Luong also was a 1964 infiltrator into South Viet Nam.

Luong may be in charge of political affairs for the highest Communist headquarters in South Viet Nam, McNamara said.

No details in Luong's background were available.

However, it is known that Washington authorities have been given a rundown on Thai.

He was described as popular with the troops, as well as being a capable leader.

No information was available on Thai's family, nor his physical description, his language abilities or his religion, if any.

Thai was said to have been born some 50 years ago in North

Viet Nam, some 40 miles south-east of Hanoi.

He probably was a teacher between 1928 and 1938 and is said to have served in the Chinese army.

U.S. authorities have been told that Thai has had both Chinese and Soviet military training, spent time at a Japanese naval school, and lived in Europe before returning to Viet Nam prior to 1939.

In 1939, Thai fled to Kwangsi in southern China with the man who was North Viet Nam's top military figure, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, probably returning to Viet Nam between 1941 and 1943 to help build the military forces of the Communist-led Viet Minh.

Thai is regarded as an advocate of the Red Chinese hard-line school.

Bryan Senko, 24, and Edward Rost, 25, were jailed Sunday for speeding. They couldn't pay a $43 fine, were placed in jail, wired home for money, and meanwhile entertained inmates.

Walls Are Used To Create 'A Look'

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Walls seem now to be the dominant factor in creating "a look" in home decoration.

First — there is the mood. It is either bright, bright white or it is deep and rich.

The rug is likely to be white or off-white with these stark white walls. You'll find the combination a favorite in split-levels or in town apartments.

The town apartment, more in the decorator's eye is more likely to have a rug, playing up good parquet or other floors, rather than the wall-to-wall white carpet popular with split-level dwellers.

WITH THIS pristine look which makes a properly furnished and uncluttered home look elegantly clean, one may find a modern painting on the wall providing large splashes of color for the room. A cozy feeling in a large white room is provided when it is broken up by something—a fireplace jutting out or room dividers.

Richard Dillon and Gregg Arendt, who are associated with the American Institute of Interior Designers, chose to create an airy entranceway with handsome room dividers of black metal and teak.

They have the large modern paintings, too, dominating living and dining room, and a handsome collection of sculpture and antiques on the shelves of their dividers. An old lavabo on the wall holds some dried grasses.

Interior designers Eugene and Olive Stephenson set the stage in their new white-walled apartment with furniture covered in what Gene calls "go-go green."

The vivid color is lovely with the white background and their large collection of Bristol blue glass that includes lamps made from old vases. The Stephensons always have used their Bristol blue as the accent in their home. It is beautiful with the brilliant green.

The Stephensons have done something few people dare to do — shrink a living room. Needing a studio, Gene put up a wall across one end of the room with a door of the same plaster white decorated with such attractive art that the door is "hidden."

THEIR GREEN upholstered sofa is against that wall with green chairs flanking it to the left. In the window area there are some little white plastic-topped tete-a-tete tables that may be drawn up to further the Conversation Island as you might call it.

The fact is that for coziness, guests want to be crowded together like sardines. The sooner people with big rooms realize it, the better they will decorate.

Many people with large rooms spread the furniture so that you need a hearing aid to pick up sounds across the room. It is great to have a big room, but the trick is to think small in decorating a conversation area. Space may be left all around it if you must, but the room should offer the opportunity for relaxation rather than strain.

An interesting table designed by the talented Stephensons has a base that has a piano stool. The frame — like top they had made for it is about 20 inches square and under its glass is a beautiful Indian — beaded square with a blue and white checkerboard pattern in its center. On the wall behind the sofa is a pair of handsome old gold and black sconces.

WALLS THAT provide a deep rich look may be paneled in dark woods or plywood, papered or covered with a dramatic fabric. One great advantage of the fabric look is that it can do remarkable things to a small room. Interior designer Burt love.

Wayne transformed an ordinary dining foyer in the home of dress designer Anne Klein into a multipurpose library, den, sitting room.

He used a red and black damask linen print everywhere. It descends from a dropped ceiling which houses concealed lighting, it flows over bookcases, niches, walls, window sill and radiator which forms a backdrop for an 18-century style banquet.

A narrow insert of a red grill permits heat to escape. The window bay is dressed with matching tie-back curtains and a window shade of the fabric hung reverse roll. Matching cushions and bolsters decorate the banquette that serves as a bed or extra seating at dinner parties. Fabric-covered drawers are ingeniously concealed in the base. Pewter and Oriental antiques complete the look, and a black lynx pillow adds a spot of drama.

Wood-paneled rooms provide many decorating looks and escapes from a mundane look. The contrast can be brilliant — vivid colors or it may be kept to muted tones, providing a look of opulence that traditionalists room. Interior designer Burt love.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: Once in a while we all get brain storms. More than a year ago a woman wrote that when you defrost your refrigerator, dry the freezer compartment inside with a towel. And put shortening (solidified, NOT oil) on a paper napkin, and wipe the metal parts inside the freezing compartment. And, by golly, the next time you defrost, the ice will fall off like magic.

And, believe me, it works! I have never seen where this would harm any refrigerator or deep freezer, provided you do not use salted fat.

Do NOT use bacon drippings, salted butter or oleo, etc., because these contain salt, which we now know ruins aluminum. Use ONLY solidified, unsalted shortening which comes in cans.

NEXT TIME you get ready to defrost, when you unplug the refrigerator, the coils next to the metal immediate quit working — blocks and chunks of frost and ice just fall off as if a magic wand had been waved. Gently use your pancake turner to remove them.

It sure saves defrosting time. And, friends, as an added precaution, NEVER hack away with an ice pick or knife at ice that won't come loose in a refrigerator or freezer. If you should hit a pipe (which many people have), the fumes can be extremely dangerous — to say nothing of the expensive repairs your box will need! Just smear on this shortening. It's the easiest way.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: We have a little 5-year-old boy who knows all the States in the Union, and most of the capitals.

I can correct him on all of them except one... he insists that the capital of Montana is "Heloise!"

DEAR HELOISE: Freshening rolls or buns in the oven is fine if you have a lot of them to do.

However, why use the oven when you want to heat three or four rolls? I put a little water in a saucepan, put a cooling rack, or the like, on top. I place the rolls on the rack (you can stack them if you like, they'll still get the steam), and cover them with a piece of foil or the lid to the pan.

This takes less than a minute if the water is boiling. Don't leave them too long, or they'll get soggy. Specially good for hamburger buns.

MRS. V. BACKUS.

DEAR GALS: Don't discard

those old nylon curtains when they wear out.

They make wonderful dish rags, or you can cover sponges with them.

They are excellent for washing the car.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I always carry two or three index cards in my purse, especially when I go to the beauty shop.

As I look through magazines, I usually find a new recipe I want to try, and copy it right on the card so it's ready to file when I get home.

Very often at a luncheon, I ask the hostess for a recipe, or one comes up in discussion, and I don't have to impose on anyone to get me something to write it on.

It also saves copying.

MARIAN POLL.

NEW YORK (AP)—William Cardinal Conway, Roman Catholic primate of Ireland, has arrived in the United States, but he won't be here long enough to attend New York's famed St. Patrick's Day parade March 17.

The cardinal plans to spend one week in Florida, Alabama and New York. The purpose of the visit, he said, is to take part in the dedication of the restored 400-year-old St. Augustine Cathedral in Florida.

About St. Patrick's Day, the cardinal said: "I'm sorry I won't be here. But if I was not back in Ireland for the feast of St. Patrick, they would never forgive me."

FT. DIX, N.J. (AP)—A young soldier's parents wept in relief when they learned that Army doctors would operate on him to remove a cancerous tumor in the bladder.

Vincent P. Gulardo, 19, of Clifton, N.J., had been inducted into the Army Feb. 23.

When the Army learned he needed an immediate operation, it planned to give him a medical discharge because the condition existed prior to his service. But the draftee's father, a veteran of World War II, said he had lost both his job and hospitalization benefits.

A spokesman at Ft. Dix said Sunday the Army would perform the operation early this week.

Tips Offered On Ceiling Painting

A ceiling is just a fifth wall, but when it comes to painting there can be trouble overhead. The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association of Washington, D. C., has a few tips for you, however, which can make this task an easy one.

In choosing the proper coating for the ceiling, keep in mind that flat paints are best for most rooms. But when re-vamping a kitchen or bath, a semi-gloss enamel offers maximum protection against moisture.

WHEN IT comes to color choice — dull whites and pastels are the key; they reflect light, while eliminating glare.

In preparation for the new color, a primer coat is necessary on new surfaces, or those receiving a color change from dark to light. Older surfaces normally will require plaster repairs, cleaning, removal of old coverings, or all three.

Primer paint or undercoating should be applied in the manner of the finish coat, across the width rather than the length of the surface. This technique allows you to avoid obvious overlapping.

Cleaning of older walls is a rather easy operation and can be done with a common household detergent. Some ceilings will require only a light dusting or painting with a "one coat" material.

Cracks and mars in plaster ceilings, often caused by settling of the building, are repaired with plaster filling or spackling material. When the filler has dried, a slight sanding will even the surface.

When the undercoating has dried, and repairs are completed, you're ready to paint.

A RELATIVELY new innovation, the long-handled brush or roller, can replace the ladder. But if you prefer to use the old method, a few tips: Paint across the room in strips about two feet wide; move your ladder often rather than jeopardizing your balance with long strokes, and don't be tempted to move the ladder with paint and tools on it or you may find yourself painting the floor as well.

With the new latex paints, one coat may be sufficient. And since these coatings don't show overlapping, you can disregard the "width rather than length" method.

Some painters prefer to brush paint the perimeter of the ceiling and then fill in the remainder with a roller.

If your ceiling is acoustical tiling, a few more suggestions. Although best results usually are attained by using a spray gun, brushes or rollers will do if you prick open clogged cells with a pin after the paint has dried.

Steel Picture Called Bright In April, May

CLEVELAND (AP) — Production and shipment of steel in April and May is expected to top that of March by 15 or 20 per cent, Steel Magazine said today.

"In some cases," said the metalworking weekly, "buying for early April delivery is 20 to 25 per cent ahead of ordering a month ago for early March delivery."

"Meanwhile, steelmaking operations are accelerating, and mill leadtimes are lengthening," Steel said.

The magazine said many producers are reactivating idle blast furnaces and steelmaking facilities, including some stand-by mills that are less economical to operate.

Steelmen are now predicting 20.5 million tons of finished steel this quarter.

Steel production has risen over the past four weeks, the publication said. An estimated 2,650,000 net tons were poured in the week ended March 5 for a gain of nine per cent over the week ended Feb. 5.

Steel said it was the highest weekly rate since the closing week of June 1965 when the mills produced 2,685,000 tons under pressure of strike-hedge demands.

Steel's composite price on No. 1 heavy melting grade steel scrap slipped 33 cents a ton last week to $35.17.

Aide Backs Help By Flower Fund In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — Natural Resources Director Robert P. McDonough said here Sunday the so-called flower fund among state employees "is a proper and legitimate way . . . to raise funds" for the Democratic party.

McDonough, who took part in a television interview show, also indicated he doesn't get along too well with State Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson.

He said he "found it hard to get what I think is the cooperation I'm entitled to" from the attorney general. "Maybe he thinks I'm a threat to his political future," McDonough added.

McDonough viewed the "flower fund" contributions as similar to dues paid by a union member.

Hearing Held On First Appalachia Road Job

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The first Ohio Highways Department public hearing on the Appalachian development highway system got under way here today.

It concerned a $9.8 million, 17.4-mile section of the proposed road. The segment would run from near the Jackson - Vinton County line to Albany and involve work on Ohio 346 and U.S. 50.

Another such hearing is scheduled for tomorrow in Jackson, involving another section of the proposed highway.

Finishing Ideas

Waterproof Paper's Use Cited

It's more than a little exasperating to go through all the steps of a wood finishing project without a hitch — only to have the final coat turn up with pits, drips or other irregularities.

But all is not lost if one has learned how to use the abrasive known by any one of various names, such as wet - or - dry, waterproof or something similar.

It looks like ordinary sandpaper but has a flexible waterproof backing, is used either with water or a light lubricating oil and has an extremely fine grit.

In order to remove the irregularities without damaging the remainder of the surface, it is important that waterproof paper be used with a very light touch.

This requires the use of a soft backing for the paper, such as a rubber block. Another method is to place the fingers of one hand on the paper and glide it easily over the wood in the direction of the grain. It is possible to make a mistake by pressing too lightly, since the same spot can be gone over again and again if the desired result is not accomplished immediately.

In that slow but sure method, there is no danger of taking off too much of the surface.

While most types of waterproof paper can be used dry, they attain their full potential when used with water or a light lubricating oil.

The liquid — a few tablespoons to a few square feet of surface — is placed directly on the wood, which is sanded as explained above. Some professional wood finishers dip the paper in water as well as applying water to the wood.

After completing one section, wipe off the surplus with a clean cloth, then repeat the procedure on another section, continuing the process until the entire surface is smooth. Finally, a coat of paste wax will help to preserve the finish.

Ray Bliss Sees GOP Victory In November

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss predicts his party will score "substantial gains" in November's congressional elections.

Talking with newsmen at a weekend meeting of big-city GOP chairmen, Bliss said inflation and "Democratic in-fighting" over Viet Nam policy are helping Republican prospects.

Phone Firms Asked To Cut Overseas Rates

In a letter to the companies, the FCC noted these rates have been unchanged for 20 years although volume has increased and costs have dropped.

Air Conditioner Tips Are Given

Question: We are having an air-conditioning system installed in our home soon. We would like to know whether there are some things we should know to get the best use out of the system. We have heard that many people fail to derive the most benefit out of air-conditioning because they keep the windows open too much. What else is there we should know?

Answer: As for keeping the windows and doors closed as much as possible, the purpose of this is to prevent too much warm, humid air from entering the house. When this is done, the entire purpose of air conditioning is lost.

In much the same way, it is necessary that areas which emit large quantities of moisture, such as the kitchen and bathroom, be vented properly so that the high humidity does not circulate throughout the house. You can prevent the air-conditioning from working overtime and thus wasting money if you have a zoned system so that only specified living areas are cooled.

On the other hand, it is unwise to wait until the hottest part of the day to turn on the cooling apparatus. Starting it early in the day will remove the warm air gradually and continuously with no strain on the system.

QUESTION: We had aluminum supports put up several months ago for a fiber-glass patio roof. We now want to paint them. Is any special preparation necessary?

Answer: The oil coating which originally was on the aluminum has undoubtedly been washed away by now. But to be sure, wipe it with a clean cloth. Apply a metal primer and proceed with the finishing coats.

Mishap Hurts District Youth On Route 267

An area youth escaped serious injury when his stalled car was rammed head-on by another Saturday at 8:20 p. m. on Route 267 almost a mile and half south of Route 30.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said a 1955 sedan operated by Jack Wayne Travis, 18, son of Woodrow Travis of Birch Rd., stalled on the highway. While he was trying to start the car, another operated by Robert D. Graham, 48, of R. D. 1 came over a hillcrest left of center and hit Travis head-on, the patrol said.

The front of the Travis car was demolished. He was treated at City Hospital for injuries of the left ribs.

Graham's 1965 sedan suffered moderate damage. He was cited for driving left of center.

Three cars were damaged in a skidding accident Sunday at 7:15 p. m. on Route 14 four and three-tenths miles east of Route 7.

Officers said a convertible operated by James Lee Davis, 22, of East Palestine R. D. 1 and a station wagon operated by Jack R. Kuhn, 18, of Pittsburgh were halted in a line of traffic.

Another car operated by Francisco C. Spada, 46, of Pittsburgh skidded on the icy pavement and hit the Davis car, driving it into the rear of Kuhn's auto.

Officers said seven minor skidding accidents were investigated Sunday between 6 p. m. and midnight. All were in the northern section of the county, officers reported.

Roads remained snow-covered and slippery in the forenoon today.

State Auditor Reports Welfare Aid Payments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger Cloud announced today the payment of $7,692,716 in state subsidies to three state welfare programs.

This brings to $55.5 million the total in subsidies distributed since last July 1 to support the programs for the blind, the disabled and dependent children, Cloud's report said.

Torture Camp

GI's Learn Brainwash System

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — It's called Camp Happiness, but there are no happy campers — not when the games end in torture and legs are twisted until the pain is unbearable.

Spawmed by effective brainwashing techniques inaugurated by the Chinese Communists in the Korean conflict, Camp Happiness is designed to prepare soldiers for possible enemy treatment in Viet Nam.

The camp, a prison mock-up at Ft. Benning near here, is not escaped via death, or defection, although the soldier-students sometimes think that might be the only way out.

"All of them are learning," said Lt. Col. Fred Cleary, a veteran of Viet Nam fighting. "Later on, if they are captured, they'll know how to keep from being brainwashed."

Officer candidates nearing graduation after 23 weeks of training quickly learn Camp Happiness will etch into their minds indelible memories of genuine pain.

This was demonstrated to the latest "prisoners" when one spoke out of turn as the "comrade commander" was giving the new inmates his usual propaganda speech.

"Nobody wants to see your ugly face," said the prisoner. The comrade commander, Capt. J. C. Reid of Richburg, S.C., showed the prisoner that Camp Happiness is not a pleasant place.

"Put this man on the pole," Reid ordered. Guards grabbed the prisoner, twisted his legs around a pole, bent one foot painfully underneath him and then pushed him backwards.

"Insolent capitalist pig," growled one guard as the prisoner writhed in pain.

The other prisoners watched silently as the tortured prisoner groaned. "Okay, I'll apologize."

In Korea, American prisoners sometime cracked under the strain of Communist mental torture techniques. Some even defected.

The government decided that American soldiers had been poorly prepared. Camp Happiness was set up as one means of teaching soldiers what was expected of them.

Although they spend only one day behind the barbed wire, the officer candidates receive a first-hand idea of the sort of treatment they can expect if captured.

They experience the methods used to try to demoralize prisoners — weariness, hunger, continuous beating down of the will to resist, and even torture.

"Of course, they will be treated worse than this by the enemy," said Cleary. "But at least they get the idea."

Mansfield Helps Quiet Criticism Of President

WASHINGTON (AP)—A quiet Irishman with a velvet glove has helped calm some of the Senate criticism of President Johnson's course in Viet Nam.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader, has demonstrated in the week since he returned from a recuperative vacation in Florida that soft words diminish wrath, if they do not always turn it away.

The second day after the tall, lean Montana senator climbed back in the leadership saddle, the Senate passed overwhelmingly a $4.8-billion military authorization bill that had been before it since Feb. 14 while members wrangled over Viet Nam.

Mansfield, with characteristic modesty, takes no personal credit for this. He says the members were just tired of squabbling and ready to act.

Within hours after his return, the Democratic leader helped extricate Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey from a sticky situation brought about by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's invitation for him to testify before it on his nine-nation tour of Asia.

No vice president can afford to let a committee order him around, and Humphrey was determined not to be put on the stand at a public hearing.

Acting Democratic Leader Russell B. Long of Louisiana already had traded verbal blows with Chairman J. W. Fulbright in the Foreign Relations Committee's televised hearings. Relations between them were strained.

But Mansfield prevailed on Fulbright to join with him in inviting Humphrey to sit down with senators and talk informally with them. The session turned out to be a friendly one, with nobody going away mad.

Now Mansfield is drawing on his seemingly inexhaustible supply of patience to move the Senate toward a vote on a $415-million foreign aid authorization which includes $275 million in economic aid for Viet Nam.

The Democratic leader occupies a unique position in standing apart from the noisy Senate uproar over Viet Nam. Quietly, he had opposed the resumption of North Viet Nam bombing, thus siding with Fulbright.

For all their recent chatting at a White House party, the President and Fulbright are not what could be called chummy at this point.

In contrast, Johnson and Mansfield continue to maintain close relations. Mansfield had his reservations about steps Johnson has taken and communicated them to Johnson. But his attitude has been that "we're in this thing too deep" to carp at the President publicly.

21 Alarms Received By Fire Department

Twenty-one fire alarms were answered by the city department during February, Chief Alfred R. Van Dyne said today.

Although the loss figure was not available, the amount was minor, Van Dyne said.

Last month's alarms included six to dwellings, five auto fires, five miscellaneous calls, two calls to rescue children, one for a leaking hot water tank, one to a trailer home and a false alarm, he said.

When making pie pastry with cooking oil instead of shortening, sprinkle the oil and water into dry ingredients for even distribution throughout the mixture. It is this even distribution that makes good pastry.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Many Children Read Before School

No doubt you have been reading and hearing about children learning to read at three, four or five years of age; and of the advice by some child experts that most children should be taught to read during these early years. There seem to be ample evidence that most children could learn to read much earlier than they are taught to read. However, there is considerable debate as to whether such early teaching of reading is desirable. A mother from California writes:

"I WONDER if I could ask for your help in the following matter: My daughter will be five in December. She read her first book at the age of three years and two months. I have not pushed her to read, she has pushed me. Now she reads fifth grade level and reads because, 'I want to find out what happens,' so she says. 'My problem is this: I know she is not particularly brilliant although she does have a sharp mind, and completely understands what she reads. I don't want to place her in any special class, as it seems to me those children seem to have a mark of some kind. She is looking forward to kindergarten, which I will send her to. Will I be doing the right thing if I were to place her in the first grade in September with the permission of the proper authorities as she is still too young?'"

"MY OTHER daughter, two, also shows interest in reading. Would you suggest it is the right thing for me to teach her? I have been reluctant at this as I am now a little afraid of the outcome." It's wonderful your older little girl can read so well. I hope you don't press her too far in this direction. During these early years of hers it won't be easy to keep adoring relatives and neighbors from marveling over her reading exploits. Nor will it be easy for this child to feel socially modest among her playmates. I'm sure this child would find kindergarten rather babyish. Even the first or second grade might be boring to her unless her teacher lets her go on reading what she can read so well. I don't think you should be in a hurry to teach your younger child to read, though she may demand that you teach her. Perhaps the elder child, after a year or two, could teach her best. Do read a great deal to both these children from sources advanced far enough for them to enjoy.

BOTH THOSE children, especially the older one, needs to have ample fun at rough-and-tumble normal play with other children nearly of their ages. They also need to have considerable fun at creating with their hands and sharing in home drudgeries and responsibilities. They should be exposed to challenges to work hard and struggle over some difficulties. They should learn the alphabet of respect for the rights of others. In my humble judgment, many children should be taught to read before they are six years of age.

My bulletins "Why Read to Baby and Young Child" and "Helping Child at Home in Early Steps of Reading" may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Horsemen Form New Ohio Group For 'Fair Share'

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—A passel of horseback riders, a few weeks hence, may be headin' for a big roundup at the statehouse in Columbus.

A Horse and Pony Association of Ohio organized here Sunday and discussed a possible graphic demonstration of grievances at the capitol.

The horsemen's complaint is that they are getting the cold shoulder — while hunters and fishermen, and breeders and racers of thoroughbred and standardbred horses, are getting state financial aid, state promotion, and use of public property.

The horse and pony owners, mostly members of various other associations involving specialized breeds, organized for a co-operative effort to get a "fair share" of Wonderful World of Ohio recognition.

The horse owners want: —Racing authorized for any and all breeds, without discrimination, on at least one day of any county fair.

—Rodeos to be declared legal sport and entertainment in Ohio by specific legislation.

—More horse trails in state parks; particularly, a riding trail through Shawnee State Forest in Adams and Scioto counties — a "Buckeye Buckaroo Trail" — with Appalachia aid funds footing the cost.

—Assurance rumored introduction of legislation to ban horse trailers from Ohio's interstate highways won't bear fruit.

Claude W. Bentley of Wilmington is commissioner of the Horse and Pony Association, and the Rev. William S. Abram of Jamestown is vice commissioner.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Fire has wrecked the Home Circle Club and Allegheny County Bavarian Society and damaged two auto repair shops on the city's North Side.

William Martin, acting fire chief, estimated damage in yesterday's five alarm blaze at $75,000. He said there were no injuries. Cause of the fire was unexplained.

Space Expert Cites Need For Rescue Preparation

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Man must learn how to rescue orbiting astronauts stranded in a disabled spaceship because "it is a problem we all know will one day confront us," a recovery force expert said today.

"Space rescue is entirely feasible and well within the known state of the art," said Col. Emil G. Beaudry, vice commander of the Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service at Orlando, Fla. In a technical paper presented during the opening day of the Third Annual Space Congress, Beaudry said one analyst concluded there is a 62 per cent probability of at least seven emergency situations in space involving 22 men in the next 20 years and a 58 per cent probability of two or three emergencies within 10 years.

He observed the vast amount of effort project officials now take to insure astronauts' safety before they are launched and said "rescue in space is but the logical extension of this traditional humanitarian role."

"There is no reason today — or certainly in the reasonably near future — why an operational rescue spacecraft could not be ready and standing by in the event of distress or tragedy during manned flights," Beaudry said.

"For example, a launch vehicle such as the Titan 3 with its great weight-lifting capability and mission versatility could easily carry a rescue crew, medical facilities and technicians aloft to assist in any way required."

In a related paper, an engineer said the ability to rendezvous with another object in space — as astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott plan to do March 15 — "opens up a myriad of possibilities," including rescue.

A space ship which runs out of gas can be refueled by an "orbiting tanker," said M. H. Goodkind of Martin Co.'s Canaveral Division. Or a maintenance station in space could glide over to repair a disabled vehicle, and crews and supplies could be transferred to and from a manned orbiting laboratory.

Potters Slow Start Costs 56-55 Loss In Sectional Final

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

A disastrous first 12 minutes proved too much for the East Liverpool Potters to overcome as they battled Winterville down to the wire before losing the Class AA Sectional title, 56-55, Saturday night at the Steubenville Community Arena.

A crowd of 3,170 watched the Potters fight back courageously on several occasions, but never able to move in front of the taller Warriors.

THE VICTORY gave Winterville its first Sectional championship in the school's history, coming in Lee Patrone's second year at the helm.

The Warriors also gained a ticket to the District tournament Friday and Saturday at Steubenville when they will face Martins Ferry in their first contest.

As far off the shooting mark as the Potters were Saturday, they still managed to stay in the game until the last second ticked off the arena clock.

East Liverpool was not bothered so much with the height advantage Winterville possessed, but came up with a poor shooting night, especially in the first half.

THE POTTERS held their own on the boards and quite frequently were getting two and three shots under their own hoop. Chuck Winters grabbed 10 rebounds and sophomore Mitchell Jones eight and battled Winterville's Dennis Peterson 6-6½ and Gene Sulkowski 6-5 on pretty even terms.

However, when the percentages were totaled, the Potters hit a miserable 28 per cent on 18 of 64 shots, while Winterville fired 50 per cent on 22 of 44.

Winterville's height paid off in the shooting department, where the taller Warriors were able to get in close for that easy shot.

Winterville Hits 50%, Captures First Title; ELHS Shoots 28%

The Potters, who never gave up in their bid for the Sectional crown, couldn't have gotten off to a worse start.

While Winterville ran up an 18-3 lead East Liverpool went almost 12 minutes without a field goal with 4:16 remaining in the second quarter.

This touched off a brief spurt, with Winters scoring a basket and Vern Smith adding two fouls to bring the score to 18-9.

AFTER CONNY Porreca scored for Winterville, the Potters put themselves right back into the game by scoring eight straight points.

Herring opened the rally with a goal, Winters followed with one and Vern Smith hit two straight.

With 2:05 left in the first half, East Liverpool had stormed back to whittle the lead to 20-17.

In the last minute of the second quarter, Winterville got two quick buckets by Russ Dixon which enabled the Warriors to take a 29-21 lead into the dressing room at halftime.

Opening the third quarter, the Potters made their most determined bid. With Winterville in front, 31-23, Vern Smith scored a foul and Darryl Herring followed by turning a clever steal into a three-point play that brought the Potters within four points, 31-27.

With six minutes to go, Earl Diddle, a hustling sophomore, who turned in a sparkling floor game, scored his only goal of the night, which cut the Warriors lead to 31-29.

This was to be the closest the Potters came until the final goal of the game put them within one point.

PETERSON got Winterville out of the immediate danger with a three-point play for a 34-29 lead. It was on the play that Winters was called for two quick fouls within a matter of seconds, giving him four persons with 5:45 still remaining in the third quarter.

The third period ended with Winterville on top, 43-38.

The Warriors looked like they would break the game wide open as the fourth quarter got under way. Rich Hastwell opened with a goal, while Porreca hit two straight for a 49-38 advantage.

Going down the stretch, the Potters kept nipping away at Winterville's lead, but time was very much against them.

With 44 seconds to go, Winters hit to bring East Liverpool within five, 56-51. Vern Smith scored with 28 seconds left and Winters tallied the final bucket with nine seconds showing on the clock as time ran out on the Blue and White.

In the fourth quarter, East Liverpool lost Diddle with 1:41 to go, while Vern Smith stayed in the game until the last 22 seconds.

Both Patrone and Frank Chan put the press on and off during the contest and both teams lost possession several times as a result.

VERN SMITH led a balanced attack for the Potters by scoring 17. He had a big second quarter with nine points. Smith made five of 12 shots as Winterville put a close guard on him every time he got the ball.

Herring, star of the victory over Toronto in the semi-finals, wound up with 12 points and turned in an aggressive floor game.

Winters, who turned in some key defensive plays by tying up his opponents, finished with 11 points. Jim Jones tallied nine, seven coming in the second half.

Winterville entered last night's game with four starters averaging between 14 and 15 pointers per game.

Porreca, who usually doesn't hit in the double figures, paced the Warriors with 16 points, while Peterson chalked up 15.

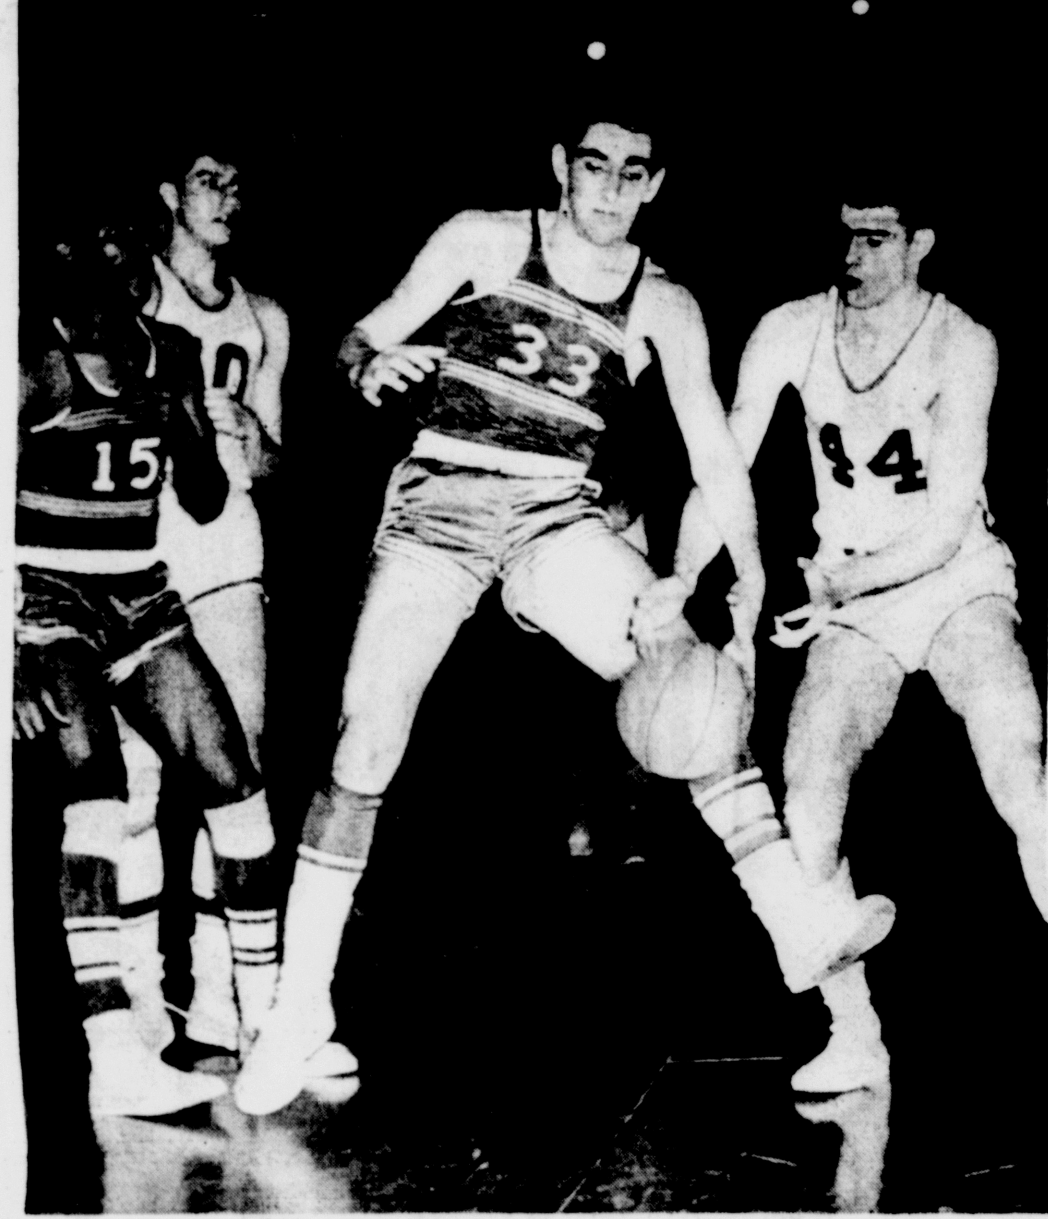

Winterville, beaten only by Cambridge this season, will take a 16-1 record into the district tournament.

The Potters carried an eight-game winning streak into Saturday's finale and closed the season with an over all 12-4 mark.

FOLLOWING the game, Chan, showing signs of disappointment after coming so close to the title, commented: "We were stunned by the aggressiveness of Winterville in the first quarter and it took us awhile to get started. I don't feel that they hurt us too much on the boards. We held our own pretty well there."

In the Winterville dressing room, Patrone, dripping after being thrown into the shower by his players, said: "We played hard."

(Turn to Potters, Page 19)

THIS PLAY ENDED in a jump ball as East Liverpool's Chuck Winters (33) and the Warriors' Gene Sulkowski (44) battle for possession in Saturday's game at Steubenville.

Columbiana Tops N. Lima, Advances To Canton Play

Columbiana remained the only district team still alive in tournament play after defeating North Lima, 71-55, in the finals at Struthers Saturday night.

The Clippers will advance to the Class A District tournament and meet Cuyahoga Heights Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the Canton Fieldhouse.

In the other Sectional final at Struthers, Springfield Local topped Lowellville, 59-52.

Columbiana after holding a slim lead for three quarters, 46-43, broke the game open in the final period by outscoring North Lima, 25-12 in the last eight minutes.

Jim Murphy turned in a brilliant 31-point performance to lead the Clippers. Toy and McMeans scored 14 each for North Lima.

Kentucky, Texas Western Slip From Unbeaten Ranks

BY HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

And then there were none.

Like the gold nickel cigar, songs that rhyme moon and June, and Edsel autos, college basketball's last two undefeated teams faded quietly away over the weekend.

But Adolph Rupp and Don Haskins expect to have Kentucky and Texas Western back making plenty of noise in the NCAA playoffs which open tonight.

Both the Wildcats, ranked No. 1, and the second-rated Miners had 23 - game winning streaks snapped Saturday and both Rupp and Haskins, while disappointed, hoped the defeats would teach their teams lessons.

Kentucky backed into Rupp's 22nd Southeastern Conference crown when Vanderbilt dropped a 92-90 decision to Mississippi State while the Wildcats were being upset by Tennessee 69-62.

Kentucky completes its regular schedule with a meaningless SEC game against Tulane tonight. Then Rupp has until Friday to repair his club's confidence for the Wildcats' NCAA playoff debut against the winner of tonight's Dayton-Miami of Ohio battle—one of two Midwest Regionals scheduled for Kent. One first place was turned in for the boy's team by Dan Bekar who finished on top in the trampoline event.

Toronto May Wind Up With Clay And Terrell

TORONTO (AP)—This Canadian city will be the site of the Cassius Clay - Ernie Terrell heavyweight title fight - probably, not definitely.

The fight - an in-and-out-of-town affair since Clay sounded off after being reclassified 1-A in the draft - will be held in Maple Leaf Gardens, an official of the arena said Sunday, with reservations.

"The fight will take place in our building," Harold Ballard, executive vice president of the Gardens said, "unless there is a disapproval from the Ontario government. But we have semi-approval."

And the fight promoters said they have selected a site in Canada, which they would disclose today.

Takes 112-Pound Crown In District Mat Meet

Jerry Pillar's 20th straight victory has qualified him for the state wrestling tournament this weekend at St. John's Arena in Columbus.

The unbeaten 112-pound East Liverpool High grappler won the District title by decisioning his arch rival Norman Sterling of Brilliant, 9-2, Saturday at Martins Ferry.

PILLAR also defeated Sterling, 12-3 in the Sectional tournament the previous week.

The Potter star was the only one of seven East Liverpool wrestlers to gain a spot in the state tournament.

Pillar pinned his way into the finals Saturday. He threw his first foe in 3:33, then turned in the quickest pin by a wrestler in the district tournament when he won his second match in 50 seconds.

MARTINS Ferry captured the team championship, with Carrollton the runnerup.

Ferry and Bridgeport each qualified three wrestlers, Carrollton two and Coshocton one.

THREE East Liverpool wrestlers lost close decisions in first-round matches—Otis Logan 8-7 in the 133-pound class; Dan Smith 6-5 in the 120-pound division and John Lowrey 3-0 in the 165-pound match.

Pete Webb (103), Randy Calhoun (127) and Dave Hager (145) won opening round matches but lost in the second round and consolation round to finish fourth.

Coach Dick Bryan and Pillar will leave Thursday afternoon for Columbus. The tourney begins Friday with finals Saturday.

Follansbee Gains Edge At Foul Line To Top Oak Glen

Thayer Nets 26 In 90-71 Defeat

By JOHN COMO
Review Sports Writer

The Blue Wave of Follansbee erased Oak Glen's tournament hopes at Weir High Gymnasium Saturday night by riding the foul line to a 90-71 victory in the finals of Section 1-AAA competition.

The Golden Bears matched Follansbee shot for shot from the field, both teams chalking up 30 goals. Oak Glen's buckets came on 76 shots for 40 per cent, while the Blue Wave had 71 attempts for 42 per cent.

At the free throw line it was all Follansbee. The winners made 30 of 36 to 11 of 24 for Oak Glen.

OAK GLEN was called for 23 infractions and presented the one-and-one bonus to the victors early in both halves. Follansbee also received several two-shot attempts as the Bears tried to stop the scoring drives of all-state guard candidate Jack Koster and his running-mate Mike Beckelheimer.

This dynamic duo combined for 53 points, with Beckelheimer tallying 27 and Koster 26. Both cagers hit for nine goals and the former made 9 of 13 free throws and the latter 8 of 8.

Ron Robson, 6-2 center, the Blue Wave's tallest player, chipped in with 19 points on six goals and 7 of 8 fouls.

TOM THAYER of the Golden Bears gave the victors just about all they could handle in the first half as he peppered the nets for 19 points, 13 coming in the first period when Coach Bob Starkey's charges trailed 19-16.

The only scoring support the classy senior had in the first half came from Danny Clark, who tallied seven.

Thayer ended the game with 26 points as a collapsing defense kept him out of his favorite key position and stopped him from driving after the intermission. He fouled out with 2:34 left in the contest. Four of his personals came in the second half, three on rebound plays.

FOLLANSBEE was sparked to a halftime lead of 37-28 by Beckelheimer who notched 10 points in the second period. Koster added four.

Blue Wave rooters got a scare near the end of the first half as Koster slammed into the wall on an attempted score after a fast break and was shaken up.

He struck his head and lay still for awhile, with 36 seconds showing on the clock. Coach Carlin Dodrill took no chances with his star guard and pulled him out of the lineup.

The intermission rest seemed to be what the doctor ordered, as Koster added six points in the third and received support from Rob Robson with eight as the Blue Wave rushed to a 57-46 third-period lead.

Danny Smith kept Oak Glen in the contest most of the third period by pouring in five of six shots and adding a free throw for 11 points.

FOLLANSBEE maintained at least a 10-point advantage throughout the final eight minutes on the strength of a fast break and the sharp foul shooting of Koster, Beckelheimer and Robson.

Koster added nine points on five fouls and two goals. Beckelheimer three goals and five fouls and Robson three fouls and a goal to wrap up the victory.

Marvin Six tallied six points before fouling out with seconds left. Clark had six, Smith five and Thayer four as Oak Glen enjoyed its most productive quarter with 25 points.

SMITH and Clark joined Thayer in double figures with 16 and 13 points, respectively. Oak Glen bowed out of this season's basketball warfare with a 500-mark at 11-11.

The surprising Blue Wave scored only its seventh victory in 20 outings to advance to Regional play at Mountville.

Three of Follansbee's seven triumphs have been over Oak Glen.

THAYER rounded out his final game as a Golden Bear with 23 rebounds in leading his mates to a 55-47 edge on the boards.

Robson grabbed 13 for the Blue Wave.

Follansbee placed three cagers on the all-tournament team while Oak Glen and Weirton showed two representatives and Wellsburg, one.

Blue Wave tourney all stars were Koster, Beckelheimer and James Neill. Placing for the Golden Bears were Thayer and Clark, while Gilliam Williams and Mitchell Zack gained berths for Weir High School and Larry Lauffer represented Wellsburg.

OAK GLEN—Clark 5-13; Six 3-6; Forsythe 1-2; Zielinski 1-2; Graham 2-4; Smith 7-21; Thayer 10-26; Ring 1-2. Totals 30-11-22-71.

Mt. Union Coach Speaks

Monaco, Wuchina Given MVP Awards At Midland

By JOHN COMO
Review Sports Writer

Most valuable player awards were presented to Alfred Monaco and Tom Wuchina at the annual Midland High School Football banquet Sunday night at the USW Local 1212 dining room.

Monaco was voted the outstanding lineman of the year and Wuchina won the Steve Alston Memorial as the best of last season's Leopard football squad.

THE LINEMAN award was presented by Anthony Martell on behalf of Martell's Men's and Boy's Haberdashery and Frank Migliore, representing Migliore Ford Co. presented the Steve Alston Memorial.

Guest speaker for the affair, sponsored by the Mothers' Athletic Association, Ken Wable, head football coach at Mt. Union College of Alliance, advised the players "Put out 100 per cent effort on the gridiron, but back it up with the same amount of effort in the classroom."

THE MT. UNION mentor, who engineered this year's team to a 7-2 Ohio Conference mark, informed the gridgers, "The first thing a college looks for in providing a football grant is the boy's attitude in class. He must have a good citizenship attitude in school and must also be a hard working student academically."

Secondly, the boy must have a good team attitude. He must obey the training rules and provide the best effort possible at all times on the field. He must show respect for the rules on the practice and playing field and in the classroom," Wable continued.

"SIZE AND ability are natural attributes. Colleges are looking for more than just a star athlete. They seek young men whom will develop into star citizens and star players. Fulfill these three basic needs, and you are on your way."

Sanders Still Bitter After PGA Decision

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Doug Sanders, chagrined at disqualification that he says cost him $25,000, demanded today that the affairs of the Professional Golfers Association be put in the hands of a $70,000-a-year czar.

"We are a $4-million business run by people making $17,000 a year," he said. "If you pay $17,000, you get a $17,000 man. We need a big-business man to run the show."

The 32-year-old Sanders, from Ojai, Calif., made no attempt to hide the bitterness he felt from his ouster Saturday for failure to sign his scorecard after he had shot four strokes into the lead of the $65,000 Pensacola Open Golf Tournament.

Removal of Sanders — still a center of hot controversy — sent Gay Brewer Jr. of Dallas, Tex., to the front of the pro golf pack, and Brewer responded with a third-round 67 Sunday that put him six strokes ahead at 201 — almost out of reach.

not one of you need to worry about gaining scholarship help," Wable concluded.

Joseph Cochran, Leopard mentor, presented letters to the players following Wable's speech.

Steve Alston, a 5-10, 182 pound halfback, was the only three-letter winner.

Winning letters for the second time were seniors Martin Ciancone, Anthony Ciccone, Gerald Kaiser, Al Monaco, Dan Clouse, Anthony Rosstone, Tom Wuchina, and Bernie Mraovic and juniors Rich Mahurt, Glenn Humbert, Aaron Golding, Joe Noah, Vito Monaco, Larry Walker, John L. Williams and James Smith.

First-year letter winners are seniors Dennis Bradshaw, Dan Gornak, Sam Morrow and Chuck Morrow; juniors Dan Crumity and Jan Samuels and sophomores Chuck McShane and David Vanlier.

MANAGERS Harry Barr, a senior; Sam Giardaa, a junior and Gene Rose and Ken Hoffman, both sophomores also received letters.

Announced as tri-captains for next year's team were Rich Mahurt, Glenn Humbert and James Smith.

Team jackets were awarded to the seniors by Mrs. Jack Haggerty, president of the M.A.A. The coaches and senior cheer leaders will receive jackets at a later date.

Cochran awarded a jacket to Steve Germusa as an honorary coach on behalf of the M.A.A.

ASSISTANT football coaches are Rey Peduzzi, Charles Pole, Stan Yukica and Allan College, who has resigned his post.

Victor Martinetti is athletic director.

Toastmaster for the event was William Walters, high school principal.

Invocation was given by Father John of Presentation R.C. Church and Rev. George Bohlender of the First Presbyterian Church offered the benediction.

Co-chairmen of the dining room committee were Mrs. Norman Vanlier and Mrs. Bill Marcum. Committee members were Mrs. Resden Samuels, Mrs. David Williams, Mrs. Linda Giordano, Mrs. Alfred Monaco, Mrs. John Pierce, Mrs. Harry Noah and Mrs. John Spanik.

Mrs. Grover Epley was chairman of the kitchen committee with members Mrs. Harry Alston, Mrs. Harry Monahan, Mrs. Kenneth Cowan, Mrs. George Tepovich, Mrs. Joseph Ciancone, Mrs. Lester Barr, Mrs. John Spanik and Mrs. John Francis.

Southpaw Jim Kaat of the American League champion Minnesota Twins pitched 265 innings last season and allowed 265 hits. He had an 18-11 record.

The Livin' Is Easy With Welk

Not so long ago in Columbus, Ohio, Lawrence Welk's Champagne Music Makers, packed and well-groomed, were standing in the lobby of a hotel, waiting for an airport bus. They'd played a date at a local ballroom the night before.

"A bus pulled up in front of the hotel," recalls Russ Klein, Champagne sax and clarinet man, "but it wasn't for the airport. You should've seen the guys that got out of it, bleary-eyed, grimy and needing shaves. They sort of stumbled into the hotel, and suddenly I recognized a couple of them, who came up to me and said, 'Hiya, Russ, where'd ya headed?'"

"I TOLD THEM we were waiting for the airport bus, then flying back to Los Angeles. 'Flying?' they yelled in harmony. 'Yeah, sure, we gotta be back for our TV show,' I told them. I guess I ought to tell you this was the great Stan Kenton's band, and I never felt better about being with Lawrence."

"It's a fact," chimes in Ori Amodeo, another of Welk's Champagne sax tootlers. "Remember, Russ, when we played the big room in Harrah's at Lake Tahoe and Woody Herman's Herd was in the lounge?"

"When I told Eddie, their guitar man, how much we were making, he couldn't believe it. 'You make that kinda bread every week?' he practically cried. I said, 'Yep, and we get paid for a weekly TV show besides,' and he said, 'I'll never put you guys down again.' I felt pretty good."

TO BE a Welk Champagner used to require a hide thicker than a rhino's. The Welk music was considered so square and rickety-ticky by the hipsters that anyone playing it had to be broke or born dumb.

That part hasn't really changed (although some "in" groups now give points to Welk because they believe he must be putting them on), but after jealously watching their Welkian colleagues on network TV for 11 years those avant garde musicians are beginning to wish they'd learned to read music and write home to mother.

While I was being regaled with these revenge stories by Russ and Ori, the three of us were poolside at the Lawrence Welk Mobile Home Estates eating a breakfast big enough for a farm gang. Instead of the south 40, we were preparing only to plow up Welk's new back nine with our golf irons.

ABOUT TWO years ago Welk bought this 300-acre spread of beautiful bottomland near Escondido, Calif., and it's covered with some 90 fancy mobile homes, a lodge, pool and par-3 golf course.

A lot of people already must have heard of this spot, because Welk did his first TV show of the current season from here last September, including a tour of his own home, a picnic, some golf and a square dance.

There were some picayune critics who thought Welk overdid it and that the show from Escondido was one big commercial for his mobile home estates. Welk's defenders say this wasn't the case at all, because all of the home locations were then and still are filled up.

Anyway, after that show Welk got the biggest letter response he'd ever had to a single show. His manager, Sam Lutz, claims 37,000 letters and cards came in to tell Welk how much they enjoyed it and asking when they could see it again.

AT A DINNER for his friends to commemorate the opening of the second nine holes of his golf course the other night, Welk announced that the Escondido show of last September will be repeated next Saturday.

We sipped some champagne in honor of the occasion, Dick Dale sang a song, the mayor of Escondido welcomed everybody and Janey, the girl who prepared the dessert, was introduced and given a big hand.

When we got back to our rooms (there's a small motel unit for invited guests), there was a choice of music on the wired music selector — all Lawrence Welk records — but I was too full of champagne and dessert to complain.

I DID GET a little peeved the next day when I thought I'd found a brand new golf ball. My partner, Welk's trumpet man, Norm Bailey, said, "I'm sorry, but I think that's mine."

"How do you know?" I challenged.

"Doesn't it say 'Lawrence Welk's Champagne Music' on it?" he asked, and sure enough it did.

Well, he sells them to the boys for $9 a dozen, or about six bucks less than a Stan Kenton man can buy them for.

Move Toward Goal In Steps

"Do you honestly think that it is possible to get down to a reasonably normal weight at age 47? I've been overweight for 10 years, taken off some pounds and put them back on. I'm 5' 5" tall and weigh close to 200 pounds." This query is fairly typical.

Yes, I honestly believe it is possible. What is more important, do you believe it? Your approach to any project determines the outcome. Go at slimming with enthusiasm. Find ways to enliven your interest. Today, 50 is just the high noon of life. What do you want to do with all the wonderful years ahead?

YOU CAN be shapely weight at 145 pounds. Make this your ultimate goal. Give your mind the picture of you reaching desirable weight. Which dieters who fail to reach their right weight. When you stop short of your goal, it seems less important to hold the weightline.

An important clue: Move toward your goal in steps. Concentrate on taking off 10 pounds. Take the happy attitude that anyone can lose 10 pounds. This adds a fillip to the venture. It does far more than that, for each separate success provides heartening proof that you are on the right track.

Where to start? Decide at which meal you are prone to overeate and make that the first point of attack. If you go overboard at the evening meal, plan to keep your dinner time calories within 450 to 500.

It is an almost constant finding that overweight individuals tend toward late day overeating. Be in-the-know on calorie timing. The overload at any one meal is shunted into fat. Of course total calories count, too. But by dividing the calories into small, easily handled amounts, the food is burned for energy and hunger is controlled more effectively.

PROTEIN not only stays by you longer, but furnishes the replacement nutrients that shore up sagging tissue. Make sure to have protein at breakfast, so as to start the day right. Have an egg, cereal with milk or lean meat, plus fruit or juice, a slice of toast and tea or coffee. Build each of the three meals around protein, and have a protein pick-up in the late afternoon to cut ahead of dinner-time hunger.

At 145 pounds, you will be able to wear a size 16 beautifully, provided you shape up as you slim down. It doesn't take much exercise to restore tone to the figure controlling muscles, but exercise must be regular. Walk two miles daily. Take easy stretch, bend, swings.

Move toward your goal in steps. You can reach desirable weight by that important date. Send stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for Eat To Build Leanness and Isometric Exercises. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review.

Gregory States He'll Get Negro Vote In Chicago

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Comedian Dick Gregory told an audience of 1,200 at Denison University Sunday night he'll beat Chicago's "political machine" one way or another.

The Negro civil rights leader predicted he will pull 90 per cent of the Negro vote and 30 per cent of the white vote in his campaign to oust Richard J. Daley as mayor.

Even if he doesn't win the mayoralty, Gregory said, he'll succeed in breaking "the machine" because it needs 90 to 98 per cent of the Negro vote in majority elections and "this year they won't get it."

Gregory, running as an independent, spoke at a lecture series here.

"The only thing that can stop me from winning is death itself, and Chicago is not beyond that," Gregory said.

He said he "still has doubts" about the recent mayor's race in Cleveland where Negro Carl Stokes lost narrowly to incumbent Ralph Locher.

But the Cleveland race will provide him with ammunition to get out the Negro vote in Chicago, Gregory said, because it will show each individual how important his vote is.

District Nurses To Hold Meeting

A teen-age topic will be presented during the meeting of District 3 of the Ohio State Nurses Association Wednesday at 8 p. m. at Woodside Receiving Hospital, Youngstown.

Mrs. Fred Polk, a member of the Youngstown Visiting Nurses Association, will discuss "A Quarter - Million Teen-agers and Venereal Disease."

A question-and-answer period will follow.

Mrs. Jean Tison, district program chairman, invites all professional and student nurses.

Mrs. Virginia Williams, president, will conduct business.

Midland Class Of '41 Spurs Reunion Plans

Committees will make progress reports April 14 when a third meeting is held in conjunction with the reunion of the Midland High School class of 1941.

The event will be July 9 at the Willows Motel in Industry. The April meeting will be at the Knights of Columbus Hall, with Edmund DiCiccio, class president, urging all interested class members to attend.

Present at last week's planning session were Elenore Mulen Farnan, Nancy Gvosdich Mosura, Mary Ann Giampetro Reigard, Bernard Schmitt, Samuel Rosatone, Olen Gibson, Angelo Cellini and DiCiccio.

Law specifies that a President must submit his resignation to the Secretary of State. No President, however, has ever resigned.

Canadian Skips Fatal Plane, Dies In Second

TORONTO (AP) — Mrs. Theodor Vaskevitch of Toronto telephoned her husband in Tokyo after she heard a Canadian Pacific jetliner crashed there Friday.

He told her he had decided to stay for another day and would take a British Overseas Airways Corp. flight to Hong Kong Saturday.

Saturday she received a telephone call telling her the BOAC flight had crashed and her 53-year-old husband was dead.

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I repair a rug whose edges are fraying?

A. — With a fine twine, use a buttonhole stitch. When you have finished, color the twine with crayons in matching tones, and press with a hot iron. This usually makes a neat finish, and the rug will be serviceable for a long time.

Q. — How can I make lighter biscuits?

A. — Add just enough liquid to make a soft dough. Then mix it lightly, and just enough to combine the flour and liquid. Any handling after that has a tendency to toughen the dough.

Q. — Have you any suggestions for a neater job of fastening the backing on pictures I am framing?

A. — You might procure some of the little triangular points used for setting window glass in panes. These are available in hardware stores, and work fine for fastening down the picture backings. They go into the frame easily, and lie flat without gouging tracks in the cardboard.

Q. — How can I make a good aluminum polish?

A. — Mix some ammonia and water in equal quantities, then add enough borax to make a paste of about the thickness of paint. Apply this to the aluminum with a soft cloth, then polish with a flannel.

Junior Editors Quiz on BLUE RIDGE MTS.

THIS WAS ONCE SEA... U.S.A. ... AND THIS WAS LAND

A PRINT OF A SEASHELL ON A ROCK WAY UP ON THIS MOUNTAIN — HOW COME?

QUESTION: Why can seashells be found on top of the Blue Ridge Mountains?

ANSWER: The Blue Ridge Mountains, covering parts of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina and Georgia, belong to the Appalachian Mountain System, part of which is shown on our map. Looking at their towering Splendor, it is hard to realize that this land was once under water. The impress of a seashell on a Blue Ridge rock is not an actual shell; it is the trace of an extremely ancient animal who lived under sea water.

The Appalachian Mountains arose somewhere about 200 million years ago. The dotted lines in our map show land and where the land was. At some time in that distant past a little seas covered much of what is now land; the dotted lines show water as it appeared in one of the periods before the Appalachians had arisen: the Ordovician Period. Then, huge inland seashell animal was trapped in the mud which turned to rock. Then the Blue Ridge Mountains rose up and hoisted the rock into the air. Now, Jerry is examining the trace of years.

FOR YOU TO DO: There are few hobbies so fascinating as making a collection of fossils. Read about them, and ask your friends if any fossils are to be found in your area.

Mike Long of Rocky Mount, N.C., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Reader: Well, there is no way out of it. It's 10 lashes with a wet noodle for Annie. In a recent column I said every woman should wear a girdle — even if she's slender as a reed. Reasons: (1) Girdles are a must to keep stockings up. (2) No matter how well reared, a woman needs a girdle or she will jiggle when she walks.

Dozens of females took the snap out of my advice by suggesting a variety of ways to keep stockings up without a girdle. Hundreds of men insist that a woman should jiggle when she walks — and why am I trying to take all the fun out of life anyway?

Dan Daniels, sparkling columnist for the Wheeling News-Register, wrote:

"I'm the last guy in the world to put the rap on self-improvement but I happen to think God's design is better. 'Why lock up everything? When a lady trusses herself up like a knight in full armor, she doesn't look thinner, she merely rearranges the lumps."

"The best thing girls have going for them is that they are not boys. So please, Dear Ann, change your advice before you smother the one bright light in our lives and create a helluva boom in whalebone. — DANNY BOY."

From Lincoln, Neb.: When I returned from the rest room (where I removed my miserable girdle which had been choking me to death) several stenographers were in a huddle discussing your praise of the girdle.

Like the man who enjoyed pounding his head on the floor because it felt so good when he stopped, the best thing I can say for the girdle is that I put one on in the morning because it feels so darned good when I take it off at night. — HIPPI BUT HAPPY.

Eureka, Calif.: I gave up trying to tell my wife what to do 30 years ago. She can stuff her caboose in a 50-gallon oil drum, if it fits, but I've yet to meet a man who wouldn't rather look at a few honest

BUYING THE ENGAGEMENT DIAMOND

(Cont. from last week)

In our previous column, we discussed two of the four C's of diamond value—Cutting and Color. Now, let's take a look at Clarity. This factor means the presence or absence of external blemishes when viewed under the 10 power magnification. Sometimes a carbon spot inside the stone will be visible to the eye without magnification. This, of course, seriously affects the value of the gem. Very minute flaws which are noticeable only under a 10 power lens will not harm the beauty or durability of the stone, but will reduce value slightly. Under FTC rulings, such stones may not be called "flawless", however.

Carat Weight, the last of the "Four C's" obviously refers to the size of the stone. There are 100 points to a carat, so a diamond may be referred to as a 50 point stone (1/2 carat), 76 points, etc. Exact sizes such as 1 carat, 2 carats are rare.

The price of your diamond is based upon the first three quality factors we discussed—Cutting, Color and Clarity. If all three of these are ideal, then a particular stone will be valued at so much per carat. So you can see there can be a wide variance in the price of a 1 carat diamond. We will be happy to explain this in more detail when you visit us to select your new diamond.

curves than see a woman whose undergarments serve as sausage casings. — 20-20 VISION.

St. Louis: Your timing couldn't have been more unfortunate. I'm the director of health and physical fitness for the YWCA. We had just completed our press releases for "Throw Away Your Girdle Week" when you came out with that absurd statement. "Every woman needs a girdle."

Every woman does not need a girdle. Every woman needs to keep herself in good condition through proper diet and exercise. God gave women muscles for a reason. Girdles deprive the abdominal and derriere muscles of the chance to do the work they were designed to do.

Please, Ann Landers, back down a little and help me fight the battle of the bulge. — MRS. A. E.

Carmel, Calif.: You probably have been deluged with complaints from the girdle haters of the world. Please silence them with this:

Every major airline insists that their stewardesses wear girdles when on duty. Some pilots had hoped to include (as part of the routine pre-flight check), the snapping of girdles to insure compliance with the regulations, but the girls insisted that they be left on their honor. Is this fair? M.D.

Dear M.D.: Yes, it's fair. Flying those great big beautiful planes is as much fun as any man is entitled to in the course of a day's work.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Today In History

By The Associated Press Today is Monday, March 7, the 66th day 1966. There are 299 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the U.S. 1st Army made a surprise crossing of the Rhine by capturing intact a bridge at Remagen, Germany, just before the Nazis were to blow it up. It opened the way for the first crossing of the Rhine in force.

On this date

In 1849, horticulturist Luther Burbank was born.

In 1876, the first telephone patent was granted to Alexander Graham Bell.

In 1916, Newton Baker became secretary of war under President Woodrow Wilson.

In 1926, the first successful transatlantic telephone conversation was held between New York and London.

In 1936, the Nazis remilitarized the Rhineland, breaking the Locarno pact and the Versailles treaty.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower rejected suggestions that Vice President Richard Nixon be kept off the Republican ticket.

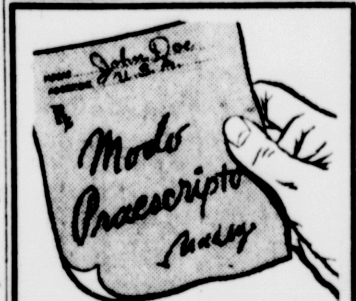

Five years ago — The Atlanta, Ga., Chamber of Commerce announced that businessmen and Negro leaders had agreed on a desegregation formula for lunch counters and store facilities.

One year ago — West Germany declared it would seek to re-establish diplomatic relations with Israel.

Idea Backfires

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Mrs. George Karibian of suburban Jennings, Mo., was a bit jittery about the idea of driving through what she thought was a dangerous part of the metropolitan area of St. Louis. For the first time in her life, she left her rings with her husband in his dry cleaning shop. Soon afterwards, two thugs walked into the cleaning establishment and robbed Karibian of $11 plus the rings he put in the cash register for "protection."

Shake well wet towels before hanging them on a line or rack to dry. This removes wrinkles before they set.
